Tradition. Championships. Family.

When I think of Tennessee, the first things that come to mind are Tradition, Championships and Family.

Tennessee has a special place in my heart, having spent more than 34 years at Tennessee as a student-athlete, a coach and a father of four students. I can't think of anywhere I'd rather be or anything I'd rather be doing. To have the opportunity to mentor young men and watch them grow into young adults is one of the greatest aspects of this job.

The tradition at Tennessee is unmatched by anyone in college football. With six national championships, 13 SEC Championships, and 86 All-Americas, Tennessee remains one of the nation's winningest programs. In addition to our success is the uncompromised majesty of game day — the sea of orange, the Pride of the Southland Band playing Rocky Top, the Vol Walk and the Vol Navy. You can't beat Tennessee Football. With more than 100,000 screaming fans decked out in orange, it's easy to see why The Sporting News called us the best game day atmosphere and hard to imagine being anyplace else.

This year, we will be celebrating the 1998 National Championship team. This group of young men holds a special place in Tennessee history. It seems like just yesterday we were in Tempe facing the Florida State Seminoles for the national crown. As part of the celebration, we will be highlighting memorable moments and bringing big playmakers back throughout the season to honor them for their contributions.

There's something about Knoxville and the University of Tennessee. A lot of our former players still spend time on campus, and many have chosen to make Knoxville their home after graduation. I am frequently visited by these young men, and I've had a chance to watch them go on to become husbands, fathers and leaders in the community.

I hope you find that this year's edition of the Tennessee Football Media Guide tells you a little about our Tradition, the emphasis we place on playing for and winning Championships, and how we genuinely embrace the Family concept. To me, the Tennessee Family is what makes everything we do possible.

Go Vols!

DEAN of SEC COACHES

Phillip Fulmer

Phillip Fulmer's Tennessee teams have posted an 95-33 (.742) record against Southeastern Conference opponents and have won two SEC titles, seven SEC Eastern Division titles and the 1998 national championship.

Tennessee has been ranked in the top 25 at kickoff for 170 of 192 games coached by Fulmer.

All-Time SEC Regular Season Wins

1. Paul Bryant	Kentucky/Alabama	159
2. John Vaught	Mississippi	106
3. Vince Dooley	Georgia	105
4. Ralph Jordan	Auburn	98

7. Wallace Butts	Georgia	67
8. Gen. Robert R. Neyland	Tennessee	62
Charlie McClendon	LSU	62
10. Frank Thomas	Alabama	59

Phillip Fulmer has led a team to the SEC Championship game five times, the second most of any coach in the conference.

"He's much more than a football coach, and he's built much more than a football program. The coaching staff did a lot to prepare me for the NFL, but playing at Tennessee had me prepared for life after college as well."
— Peyton Manning

Phillip Fulmer is truly the dean of SEC coaches, having coached an SEC game against 47 different coaches in his 15 seasons, including at least two coaches at every other conference school.

"The big games I played in Neyland Stadium are right up there with the Super Bowl. It is still one of the most electric atmospheres I have ever experienced, and the passion of the fans is what makes the difference."
— Peyton Manning

"It is a remarkable experience. It starts with the Vol Walk down to the stadium, and the energy just builds and builds until you run through the 'T' for kickoff."
— Jerod Mayo

General Neyland's Maxims of Football

1. The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win.
2. Play for and make the breaks when one comes your way - SCORE.
3. If at first the game - or the breaks - go against you, don't let up... put on more steam.
4. Protect our kickers, our QB, our lead and our ball game.
5. Ball, uskie, cover, block, cut and slice, pursue and gang tackle for this is the WINNING EDGE.
6. Press the kicking game. Here is where the breaks are made.
7. Carry the fight to our opponent and keep it there for 60 minutes.

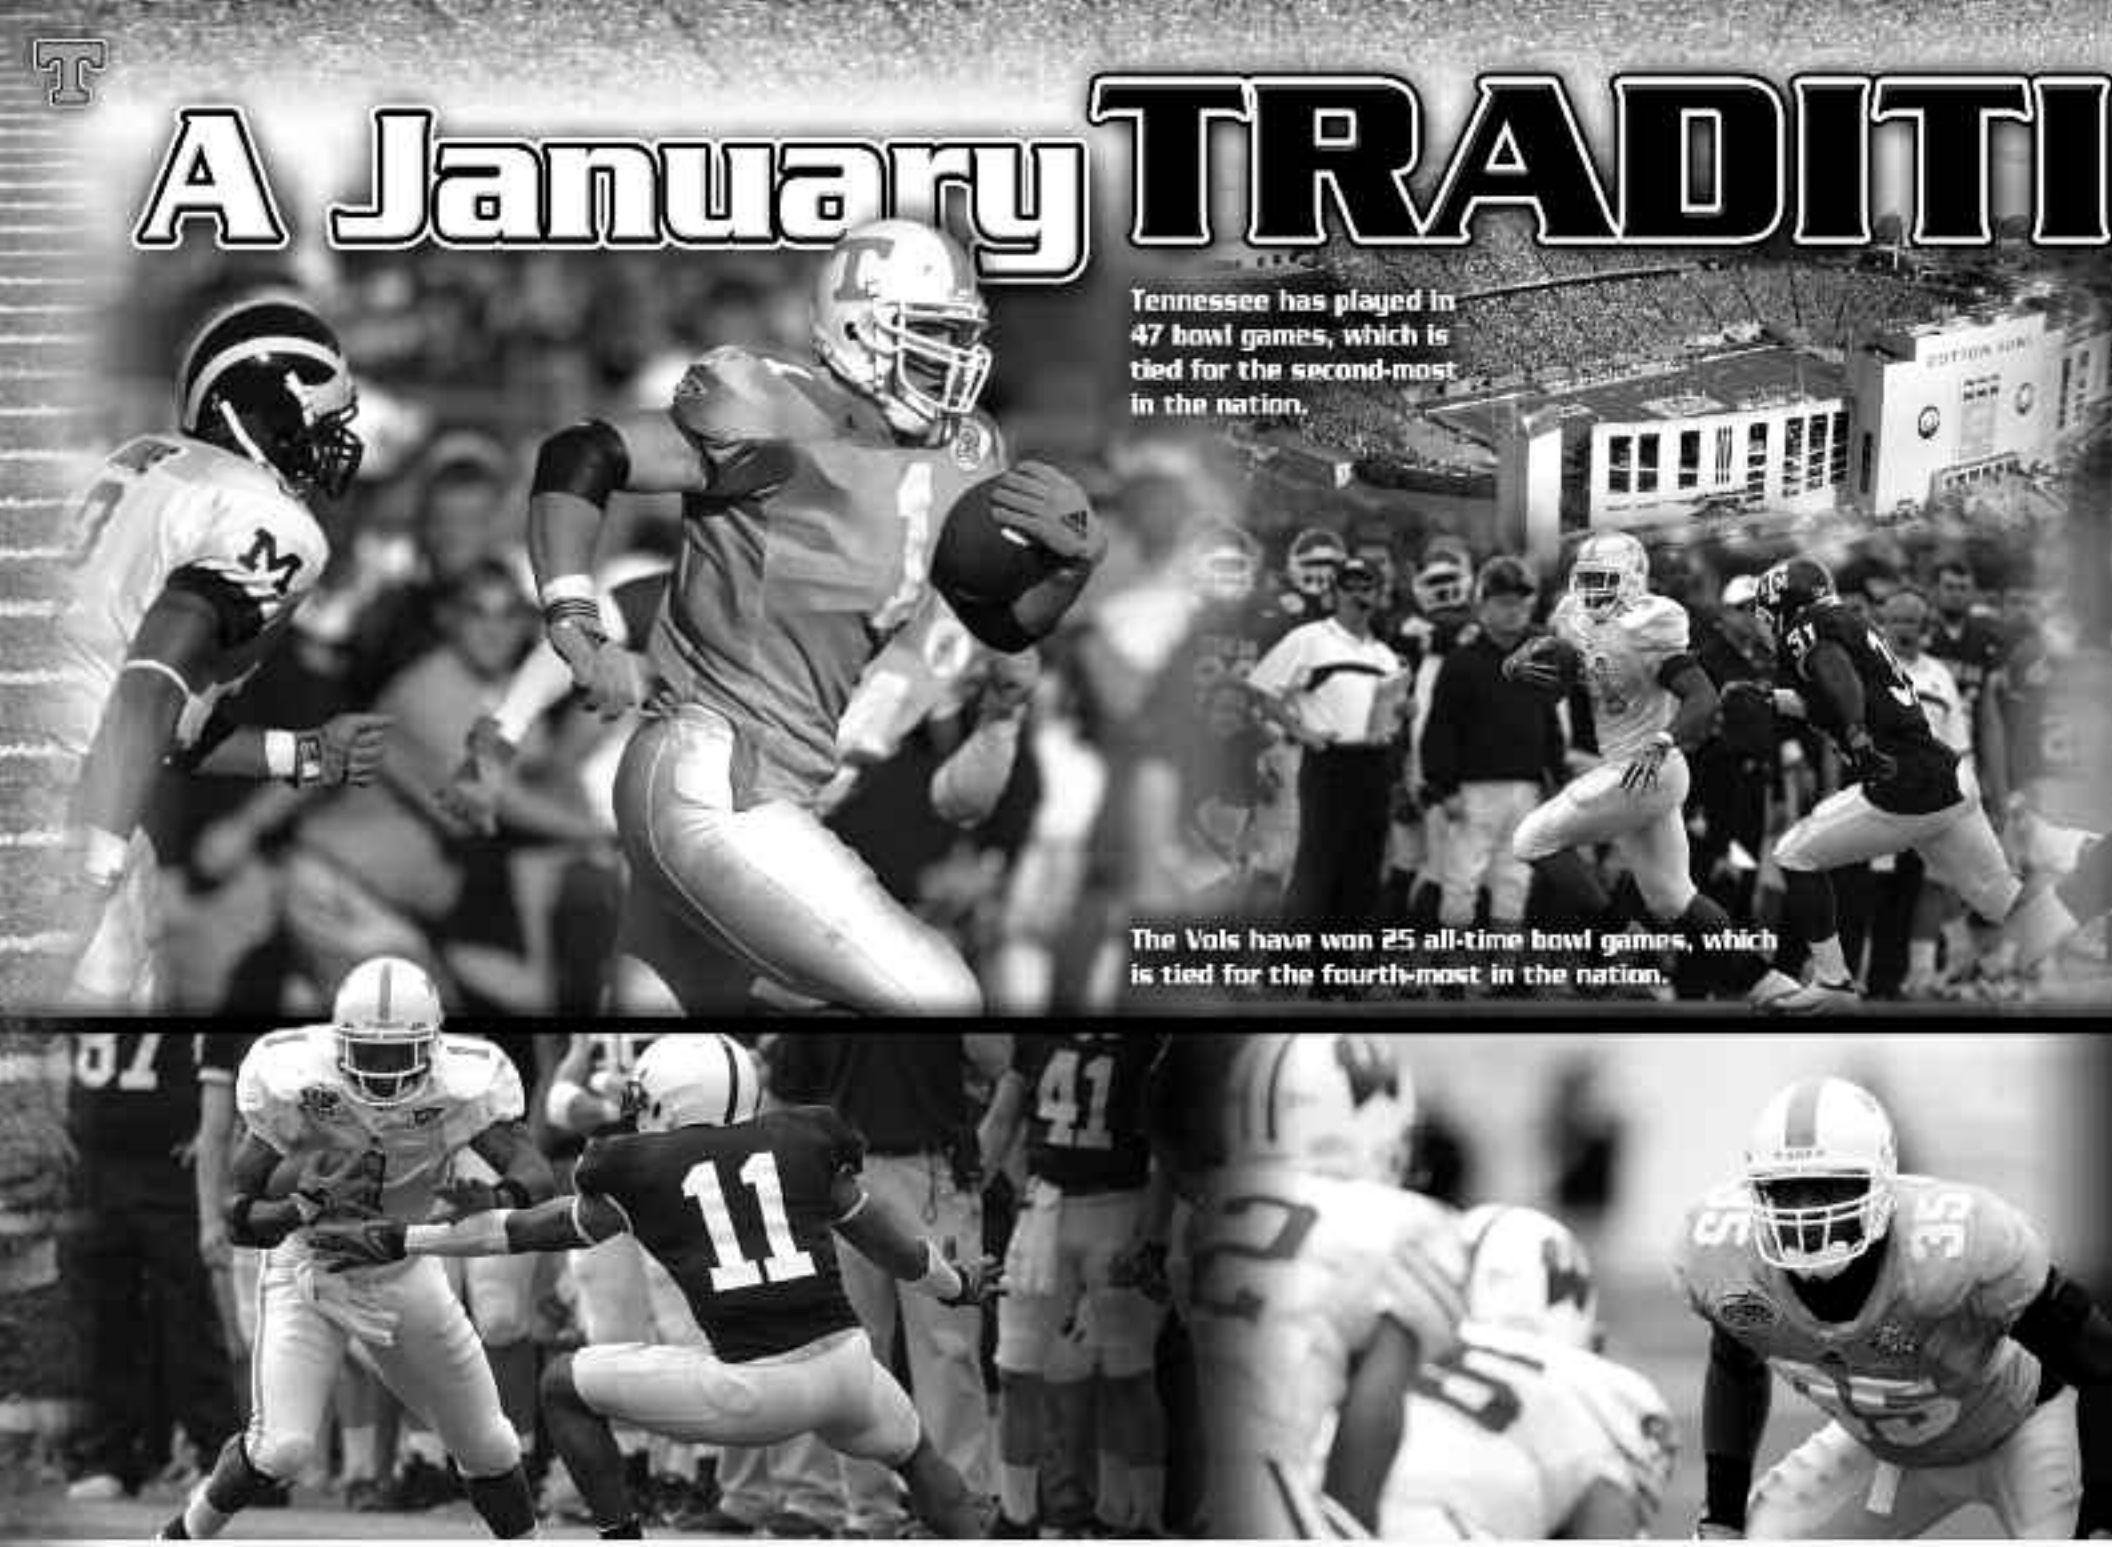
A January TRADITI



Tennessee has played in 47 bowl games, which is tied for the second-most in the nation.

The Vols have won 25 all-time bowl games, which is tied for the fourth-most in the nation.

ON T

Tennessee has played in the four bowls that now comprise the Bowl Championship Series a total of 16 times.

The Vols have played in 14 different bowls since 1939.

Tennessee has played in 12 January bowl games since 1993.

NATIONAL MEDIA EXPOSURE

Tennessee has played at least 10 games on television in each of the last 12 seasons and in 13 of 15 seasons under Phillip Fulmer.

Tennessee has played a BCS conference opponent on national television in 9 of 10 seasons since the BCS began in 1998.

The Vols have played eight conference games on television six times in the last 10 seasons.

Tennessee has hosted ESPN College Gameday seven times at Neyland Stadium.

The Vols have appeared on national television 120 times with Phillip Fulmer as the head coach.

Tennessee athletes have appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated 10 times.

Former Vol Peyton Manning has appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated an additional eight times.

The Best CONFERENCE In America

The SEC has five active coaches who have won national titles, more than any other conference in the country.

The SEC has won four national titles since the inception of the BCS in 1998 and six titles since the league expanded in 1992.

SOUTHEASTERN SEC CONFERENCE

The SEC's total of seven bowl wins in 2007-08 was the most ever by one conference.

SEC games attracted more than 6.6 million fans in 2007, by far the most in the nation for any conference.

All-Time Wins (SEC)

Alabama	787-313-43	.717
Tennessee	771-320-53	.697
Georgia	714-381-54	.645
LSU	692-370-47	.641
Auburn	676-388-47	.631

Tennessee ranks second in the conference in all-time wins, all-time conference wins and conference titles.

Since 1992, Tennessee owns a 48-16 road record in the SEC and a 34-13-1 record against western division teams.

The SEC has the most extensive television package in the country, with at least two games each weekend on national television and as many as two more games being broadcast nationally or regionally most weeks.

The SEC had five teams finish in the top 15 of the AP poll for the third time in 10 seasons last year.

All-Time SEC Wins

Alabama	341-159-21	.675
Tennessee	308-153-19	.661
Georgia	283-185-14	.602
LSU	268-195-22	.575
Florida	256-192-15	.569

The SEC's 353 all-time bowl appearances and 184 bowl wins are more than any other conference.

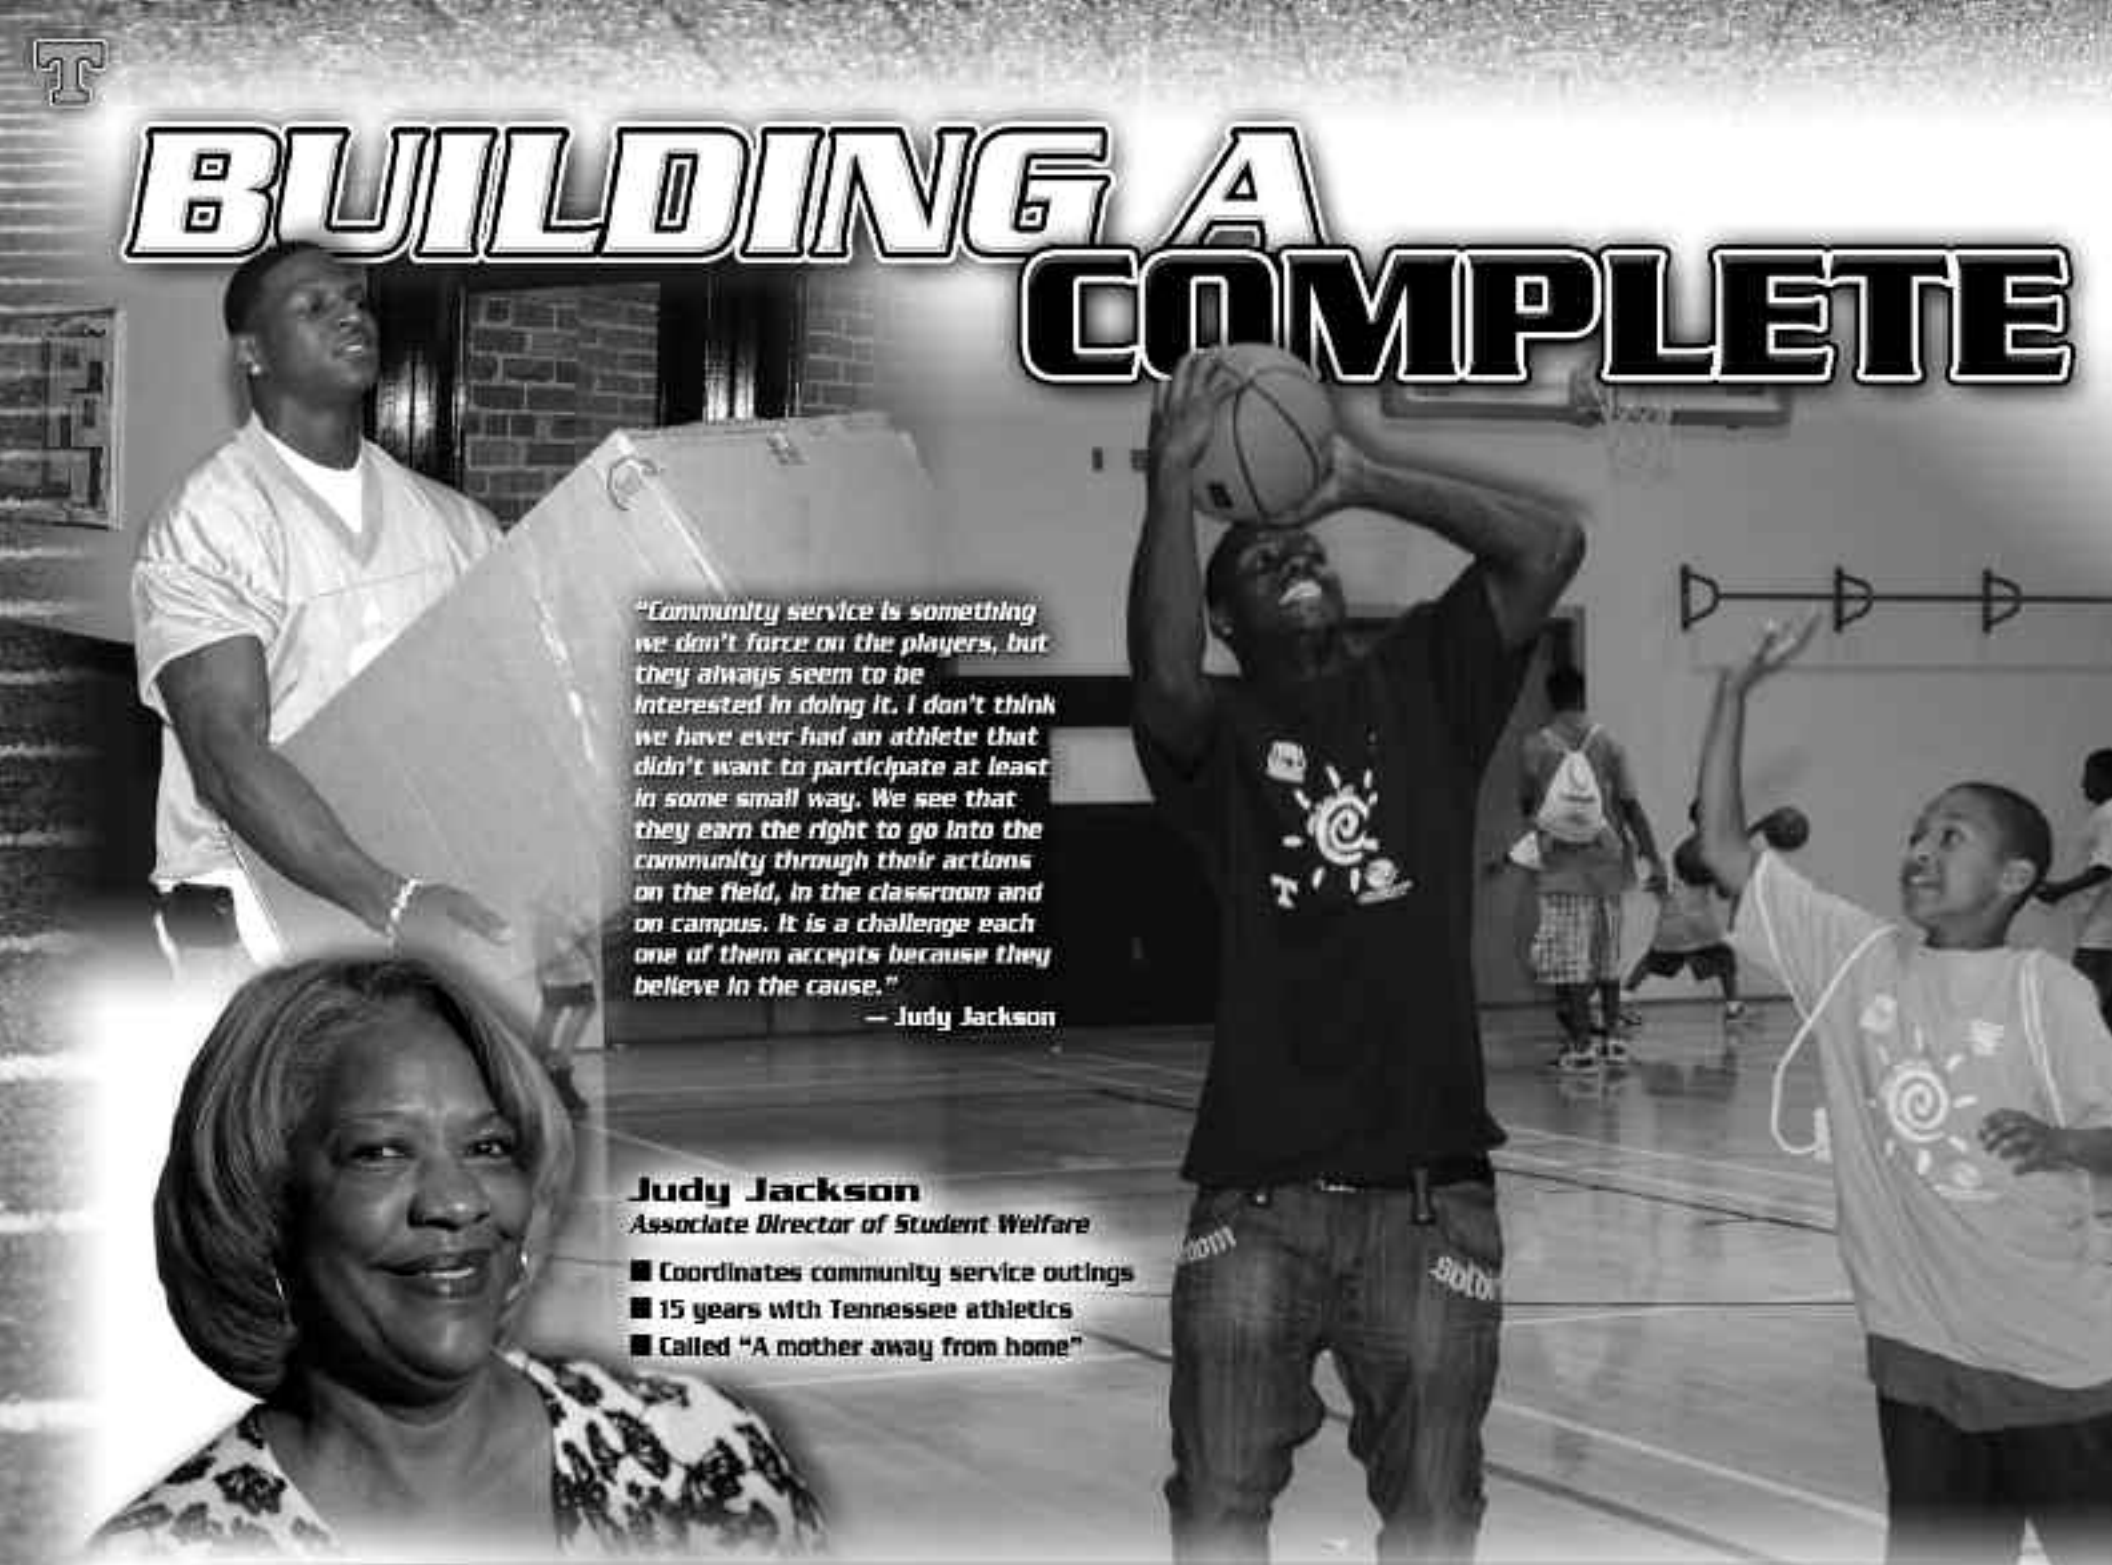
BUILDING A COMPLETE



"Community service is something we don't force on the players, but they always seem to be interested in doing it. I don't think we have ever had an athlete that didn't want to participate at least in some small way. We see that they earn the right to go into the community through their actions on the field, in the classroom and on campus. It is a challenge each one of them accepts because they believe in the cause."

A BALANCED Attack

Scoring points at Tennessee has become as much of a tradition as the Vol Walk. During Phillip Fulmer's reign as head coach, the Volunteers have made scoring 30 points a regular occurrence. The list of former stars helping produce those numbers includes names such as Manning, Lewis, Stallworth and Witten. The tradition continues with the likes of Taylor, Jones and Foster in 2008.

The big guys up front have had their share of success as well, paving the way for nine 1,000-yard rushers in the last 14 years and protecting the quarterback at an almost unbelievable pace. Tennessee led the country last season, allowing only four sacks in 534 pass attempts.

Dave Clawson brings his own magical touch to the Tennessee offense this year. He has a long history of calling plays to maximize the strengths at his disposal. Clawson believes balance is the key to moving the ball and scoring points, so the Volunteers always will have numerous ways to attack.

Nine Vol rushers have reached the 1,000-yard mark in the last 15 seasons.

Tennessee's leading receiver has notched 1,000 yards six times, and four receivers have reached paydirt at least 10 times in a season since 1995.

Tennessee has scored an average of 28 points per game in 12 of 15 seasons under Phillip Fulmer.

Nine of Dave Clawson's 14 quarterbacks have earned All-Conference honors.

The Tennessee offensive line led major college football with just four sacks allowed in 2007. UT's O-line has allowed only 23 sacks in its last 27 games.

Speed, INTENSI

For more than a decade, John Chavis has been wreaking havoc on opposing offenses in the SEC with an attacking, aggressive style of defense. Tennessee defenses consistently rank at the top of the list – not only in the conference but in the country.

Speed has been a staple of those who have played for Chavis, and the NFL has taken notice by drafting player after player at every position. Wilson, Grant, Little and Ellis are just a few of the names who have gone from starring roles at Neyland Stadium to dominating the professional ranks.

Because of that tradition, great players still are choosing to wear the Orange and White. Freshman All-America Eric Berry and second-team All-SEC Rico McCoy return to lead the Vols in 2008.

Eight defensive players have been selected in the first round of the NFL Draft since 1995.

Eight Chavis defenses have surrendered fewer than 2,500 passing yards in a season.

TY & Power

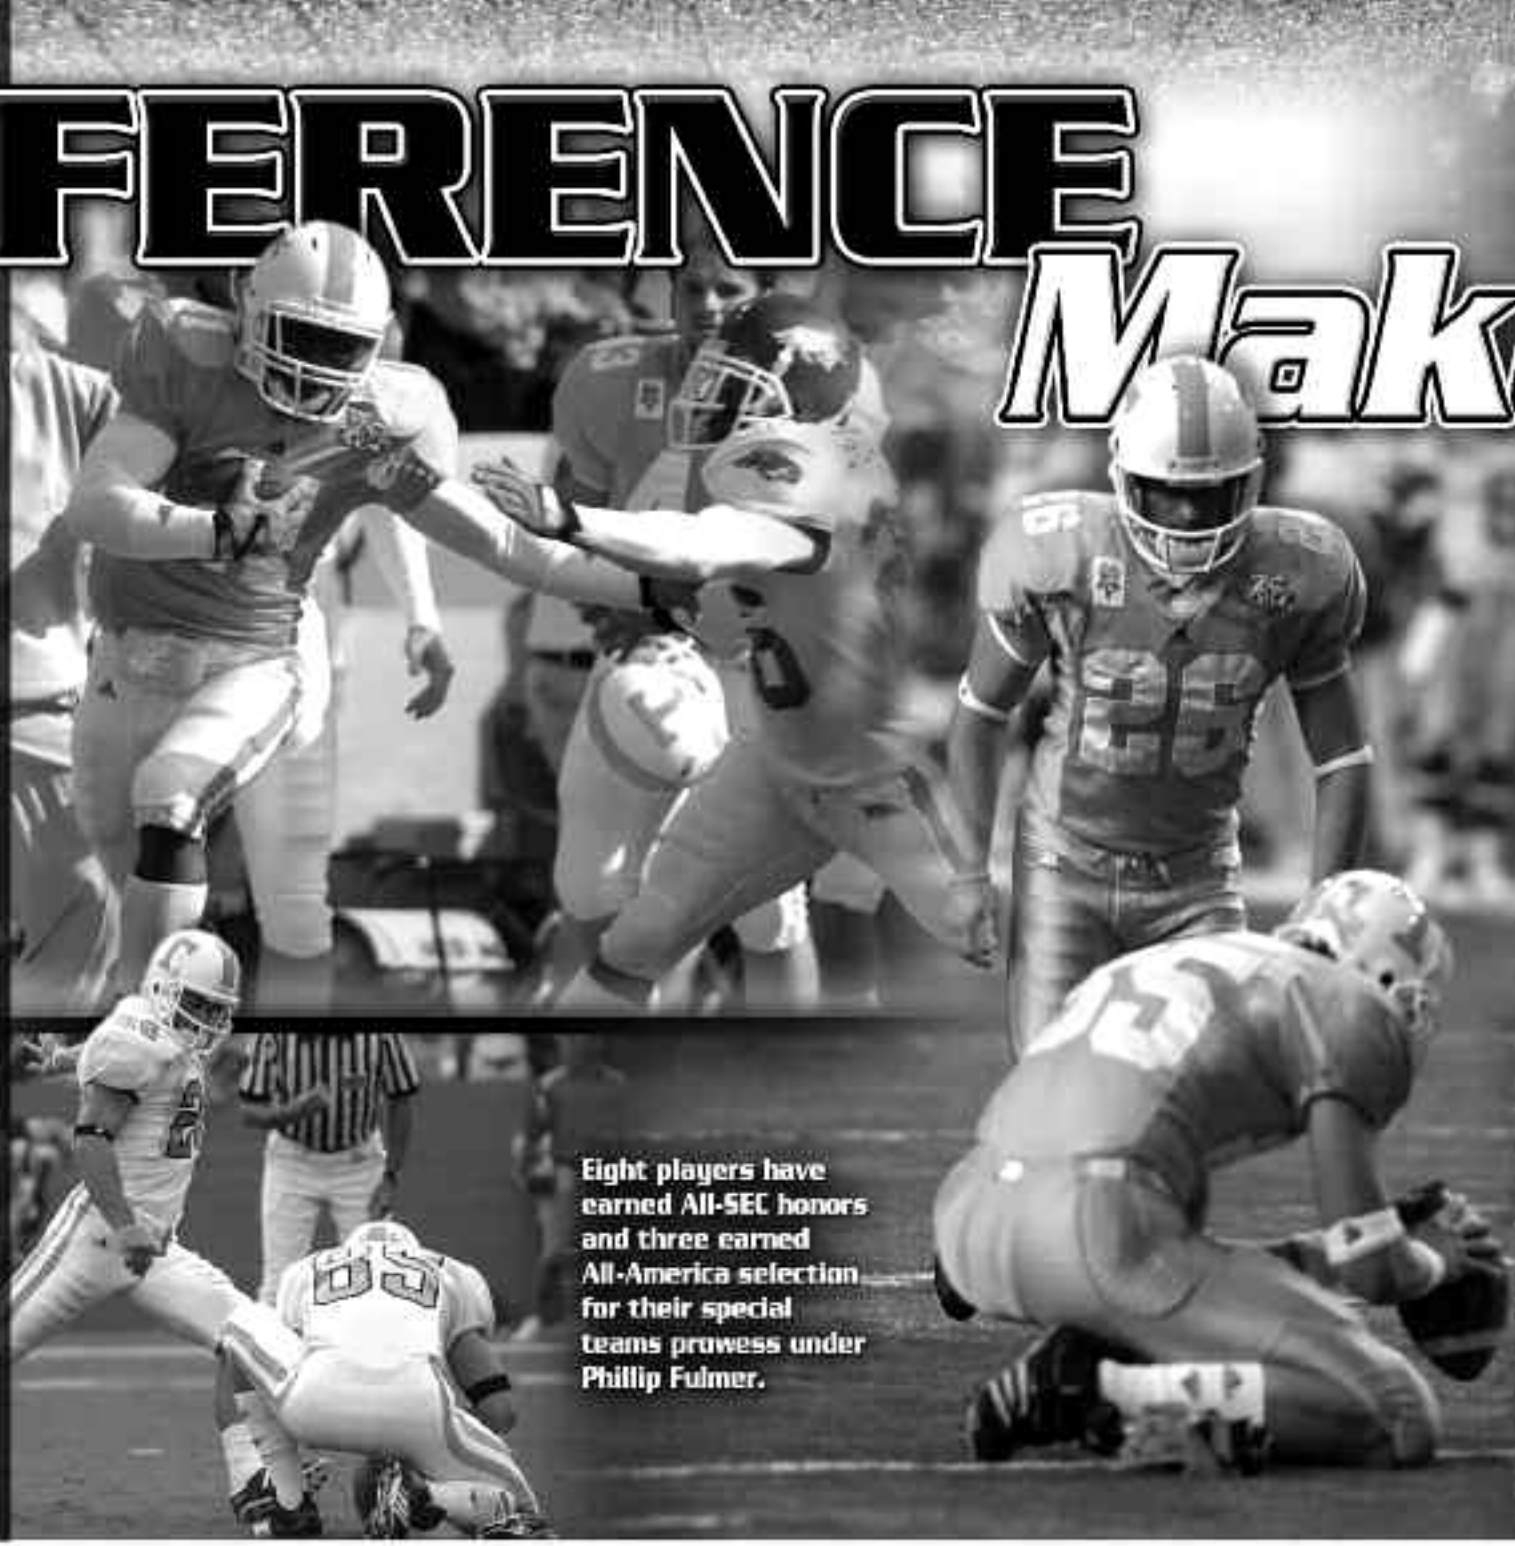
Chavis-led defenses twice have surrendered fewer than 1,000 yards rushing in a season and six times surrendered fewer than 10 rushing touchdowns.

DIFFERENCE Mak

One of the first game maxims Gen. Robert R. Neyland brought to the University of Tennessee was, "Press the kicking game, for here is where the breaks are made." Since 1926, the Tennessee Volunteers have heeded that creed and made a habit of excelling at special teams play. Big returns, clutch kicks, changing field position by punting – all have had their moments in Phillip Fulmer's tenure as head coach.

Special teams also have helped the Volunteers to some of their greatest triumphs. For more than 80 years, the Vols have stressed the importance of special teams play, and the talent the Vols put on the field continues to demonstrate exactly that.

Beckswoort and Hall have given way to Lincoln and Rogan as the latest in a long line of Vols special teamers.



Eight players have earned All-SEC honors and three earned All-America selection for their special teams prowess under Phillip Fulmer.

Tennessee led the SEC in kickoff returns last year with a 24.4-yard average.

TENNESSEE TRADITIONS

The Volunteer Statue
The spirit of university youth and its ideal of service, the statue was cast, placed in Circle Park, and unveiled on April 19, 1968.

The Hill
"The Hill," the original part of the campus, is symbolic of higher education in the state of Tennessee.

Torch Night
The model for Torch Night was a candlelight ceremony for seniors at the University of South Carolina that was adapted for UT Knoxville by Vic Davis, alumni secretary, and Ralph Frost, head of the campus YMCA.

The Rock
Unearthed in the 1960s, the Rock soon thereafter became a "canvas" for student messages. For years the university sandblasted away the messages but eventually deferred to students' artistic endeavors.

UT Seal
The official university seal had its beginnings in the 1800s and has taken several forms over the years. The seal has included imagery representing enlightenment, peace, and science, as well as the words "agriculture" and "commerce."

"The Strip"
Cumberland Avenue was one of the original Knoxville streets surveyed and platted by Charles McClung in 1791. Through the years, the street has been home to filling stations, grocery stores, clothiers, restaurants, clubs, drugstores and other neighborhood enterprises.

For sports fans nationwide, there's a magic moment when everyone knows that something special and long-anticipated is at hand.

At the Kentucky Derby it's the parade to the post for the 10th race on the Churchill Downs program. For the late-summer race in Bristol, the grand marshal shouts through his microphone, "Gentlemen, start your engines." In Major League Baseball the President of the United States throws out the first pitch on opening day.

Great events all, stirring the crowd's emotions to fever pitch for the action soon to ensue.

But for Tennessee Vols football fans, those hallowed moments at other venues pale on the pageantry meter in comparison to the scene at Neyland Stadium when Phillip Fulmer's Orange warriors make their grand entrance.

Gary Sousa's Pride of the Southland Marching Band parades from the south end of the cavernous arena to the north, setting things up for the sudden burst of energy that signals the time for another UT home football game is at hand.

On cue, coinciding with the network television cameras beaming the scene around the globe, the Vols fire through the T formed by the band, clearing an alley from the dressing room entrance onto the playing field.

The Kentucky Derby, the Bristol race classic and baseball's opening pitch occur annually. In Vol football, it happens seven or eight times a season, to thunderous applause by the Tennessee faithful.

Shortly after the pregame ceremony ends, fans abruptly turn their attention to the combat about to break out down on the field and the inevitable questions that will be asked, especially in the early going:

Can quarterback Jonathan Crompton successfully replace the departed Erik Ainge? Crompton will be a key to the redesigned offense introduced by new coordinator Dave Clawson under the eye of longtime head coach Fulmer, who will be adding to the luster of his Hall of Fame credentials. On the other side of the ball, will linebacker Rico McCoy step up and make life miserable for opponents the way his predecessor, Jerod Mayo, did?

By digesting the pages of this publication compiled by Bud Ford, John Painter, Tony Williams and their hard-working staffers, you can size up for yourself Tennessee's prospects as the Vols launch Fulmer's 17th season directing the UT football program.

— Haywood Harris
Tennessee Vols Historian

QUARTERBACK

As spring practice moved toward a climax, and coaches examined their options at quarterback, Jonathon Crompton continued to separate himself from the pack. To some degree, it can be attributed to Crompton's length of service with the Vols. He's been at UT a year longer than Nick Stephens and two years longer than B.J. Coleman. Fortunately, there is more to Crompton's development than mere seniority. His skill has earned him the upper hand in competition with Stephens and Coleman. A junior who bided his time while Erik Ainge handled signal-caller chores, Crompton is prepared to use the knowledge he has soaked up the last two years as backup. He already has shown his willingness to lower his head and bowl over tacklers if his pass options fall apart. When it comes to credentials as a passer, he could note the starting role he filled against Arkansas in 2006, connecting on 16 out of 34 passes for 174 yards and two touchdowns. Stephens and Coleman are willing students who made strides in spring practice with good effort on the field and in the film room.

Arian Foster

TAILBACK

Even though a new offensive staff was bringing a different shape to the offense, Arian Foster managed to maintain his advantage as the man coaches turn to when the game is on the line. That's not particularly surprising in view of Foster's versatile work in three years with the offense. As a member of UT's elite 1,000-yard club for rushing offense, Foster has not just the statistics but the style to propel the running game. The senior should enhance his college career resume with a productive closing campaign. Foster, unlike some of his teammates, managed to avoid the injury bugaboo in spring work and benefited from intensive work in all scrimmages. Not as fortunate was backup Montario Hardesty, who was limited because of a sore knee. Hardesty, a junior, will compete with sophomore Lennon Creer for prime playing time behind Foster.

FULLBACK

Out of mothballs after a year in exile, the fullback position has been restored to the Vol offense. Whether it returns with a bang or a whimper remains to be seen. Coaches tied their hopes for a big season at fullback to powerful David Holbert, but a devastating knee injury in spring practice sent Holbert to the sidelines, with a projected date for the bruising fullback to rejoin the Vols unclear. Suddenly, the coaches placed the fullback responsibilities in the hands of sophomore Kevin Cooper, a special-teams player in 2007, and Austin Johnson, a January enrollee with the Vols.

WIDE RECEIVER

Contrasted to last season, when a question mark hung over the wide receiver slots because of heavy graduation losses, the Vols enter 2008 with an abundance of available talent. Included in the mix are some gridiron Houdinis who make a practice of posting occasional plays worthy of a magician's skill, notably sophomore Gerald Jones. Jones as a freshman last year had a couple of catches against Kentucky that stamped him as a man to watch when the Vols need a clutch play. Jones could take the spotlight away from a trio of proven veterans who are ticketed for starting assignments -- seniors Lucas Taylor and Josh Briscoe and junior Austin Rogers. Taylor was the top receiver last year with 73 catches, followed in the stats column by Rogers' 53 and Briscoe's 49. Junior Quintin Hancock also enjoyed a good spring practice.

TIGHT END

Even though tight ends can never get enough catches to satisfy them, at least Jeff Cottam and Luke Stocker will have the documentation to make the case to Coach Phillip Fulmer that more passes should be directed their way. Last season Cottam had 13 and Stocker, 11. They can point to last year's top pass-catching tight end, Chris Brown, and supplicate their coaches, "Why not fling more of those toward us?" They would be referring to Brown's astronomical total of 40, which is consistent with the numbers expected of a wide receiver, not a tight end. On plays in which the ball is not earmarked for them, both Cottam and Stocker are prepared to expend their energy toward the more traditional tight end's role of blocking. Cody Pope made the move from offensive line to reserve tight end during spring drills.

CENTER

Pin them down and UT coaches will point to center Josh McNeil's play as a key to the protection 2007 quarterback Erik Ainge enjoyed. McNeil took it as a personal challenge to keep opponents away from the quarterback. Tennessee led the nation in the important statistic that allowed Ainge extra seconds to search for receivers. McNeil in only two seasons reached a level of proficiency that earned him Associated Press honorable mention All-SEC status. A talented backup, junior Cody Sullins, has been a regular on Tennessee's SEC travel squads and is battling for the right to be first off the bench as a replacement for McNeil.

GUARD

Here is where Anthony Parker operates, and here too, not coincidentally, is where Tennessee's perception as presenting a dominant offensive line takes root. Parker is primed for a spectacular senior season, bringing forth credentials he established in three years as one of the Vols' premier blockers. Parker gained All-SEC and All-America recognition in 2007, partly on the basis of his dependability in starting 25 games during his sophomore and junior campaigns. Coaches are counting on their veteran bell cow to lead the way for Jacques McClendon (the probable starter at right guard), Vladimir Richard, Jarrod Shaw, Darris Sawtelle and Darius Myers to bring their productivity up to a level approaching Parker's consistent play at left guard.

TACKLE

It is widely conceded that the Vols' offensive line should take the field with a burst of energy and confidence from the moment the season gets under way. For example, the starting tackles, senior Ramon Foster and junior Chris Scott, need to play second fiddle to no one when it comes to doing their jobs. Both have the background and know-how to fire off the ball, protect the quarterback and clear a path for Arian Foster and the other running backs. Offseason drills were dedicated to developing toughness among such players as reserve tackles to Ramone Johnson, a sophomore, and redshirt freshman William Brimfield. Johnson and Brimfield are backups, but they need to be ready in case Foster and Scott fall by the wayside for any reason.

Jeff Cottam

DEFENSIVE END

Heeding the coaching staff's call for more assertive play from defensive ends, Wes Brown and Robert Ayers "stepped up" their game. The junior Brown and senior Ayers have mammoth shoes to fill. Xavier Mitchell, a big-time operative on the left side, is gone as is steady Antonio Reynolds at the other terminal. Ayers came on fast during the latter part of the 2007 season and ended the year with an impressive 12 tackles for lost yardage. Thus, hopes are high that he can handle Reynolds' old assignment at right end. Brown will need to increase his output appreciably, however, if his statistics are going to somehow atone for the loss of the gifted Mitchell. Brown had a hand in 23 tackles, compared to Mitchell's 51, many of which occurred behind the line of scrimmage. Sophomore Ben Martin, backup to Ayers, impressed coaches with his dedication and work ethic designed to put on much-needed muscle after he missed most of last season with a knee injury. Sophomore Chris Walker advanced from special teams player to top reserve at left end.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

The common complaint that defensive tackles are in short supply, nationwide, not just at Tennessee, likely won't be emanating from the mouths of UT mentors this fall. Compared to other positions, the Vols are blessed with competent tackles, specifically the likely starters, Demonte' Bolden and Dan Williams. Bolden, a senior who is slated for service on the left side, is a rangy 6-6, 290-pounder who had 26 tackles last year along with a slew of telling big plays that included five tackles for loss and a pair of sacks. He also deflected two passes and twice hurried the quarterback into rushing his throws. The development of Williams, ticketed as a starter at right tackle, was an especially bright chapter for the 2007 Vols. As a sophomore, Williams ranked seventh among the Vols with 40 tackles, highlighted by 6.5 of them for lost yardage. Walter Fisher, a dependable reserve who came to UT via the junior college route, will be an important contributor as the only returning letterman aside from Bolden and Williams.

LINEBACKER

Were it not for Rico McCoy, there would be much gnashing of teeth concerning the outlook at linebacker. Thank goodness for McCoy, a quick-darting, two-year letterman who ranked second on the team with 106 tackles. He had 4.5 tackles for loss and deflected five passes. He returns for his junior season at outside linebacker, a welcome sight for Vols coaches after Jerod Mayo's decision to turn pro after his junior season. They are looking for somebody to take over the leadership role at linebacker provided by Mayo and Ryan Karl, who graduated. The SEC's leading tackler will likely be succeeded at middle linebacker by explosive Ellix Wilson, who had three sacks among the 30 tackles he recorded last season. It will be no simple chore, either, to successfully replace Karl, who had 85 tackles at the other outside slot. First in line will likely be Nevin McKenzie, who waged a hard-fought duel with fellow senior Adam Myers-White for the starting nod. Depth at the three linebacker slots will be provided by Nick Reveiz, Savion Frazier, Chris Donald, Josh Hawkins and LaMarcus Thompson.

CORNERBACK

The secondary, an easy place to pin blame when things go wrong, can't avoid that time-worn stereotype. But the Vols go to war this fall with a defensive backfield that combines experience, athletic ability and football instincts to a remarkable degree. From the time last season as a true freshman Brent Vinson stepped on the field for significant action, against Arkansas State, he brought a big-play flair. The 6-2, 190-pound sophomore will return at left cornerback, a role he filled as a starter effective with the Georgia game at midseason. On the other side, the probable starter is Dennis Rogan, who, like Vinson, made his mark as a 2007 true freshman in a highly visible way, returning punts and kickoffs. Others with above-average ability include DeAngelo Willingham, Marsalous Johnson and Antonio Gaines. Willingham, a senior, forced two fumbles in the South Carolina game last year. Johnson and Gaines both return to work after injuries sidelined them for most of the 2007 season.

Rico McCoy

SAFETY

Coaches don't like to say it, but how could anybody deny that Tennessee has the basic ingredients to man the safety slots with as promising a duo as any school in the nation? First you begin with strong safety Eric Berry, who last year was the Sporting News' national defensive freshman of the year. Berry reeled in a team-leading five interceptions, returning them for a total of 222 yards, enough to earn him second place in the NCAA all-time record book. Complementing Berry at the other safety slot will be Demetrice Morley. Observing football from a distance in 2007 wasn't Morley's idea of a good time, so he returns with more energy than ever before, determined to prove it was no accident two years ago when he had 51 tackles, two interceptions, a sack and a fumble recovery as the starting free safety. Freshmen will provide reserve strength, Anthony Anderson behind Berry and Vince Faison behind Morley.

Dennis Rogan

SPECIAL TEAMS

When the Tennessee faithful bemoaned the loss of dependable placekicker James Wilhoit after the 2006 season, little did they know his replacement would become a first-team All-America in his first year on the job. But the Football Writers Association anointed Daniel Lincoln the best kicker in the land on the basis of his 21 field goals and 52 extra point conversions. Lincoln's total of 115 points was the most ever by a Tennessee kicker and Lincoln's 27-yard field goal provided the winning margin in an overtime duel with South Carolina. Unfortunately, the punting situation figures to be less stable while second-team All-SEC Britton Colquitt serves a five-game suspension that will keep him off the field until the Vols meet Georgia Oct. 11. His designated replacement, sophomore Chad Cunningham, may have other ideas. Cunningham was booming them high and far during spring practice, suggesting a struggle could ensue for the position once Colquitt returns. Dennis Rogan, a starting cornerback, will likely continue as the primary kick and punt return specialist. Taking over at midseason last year, he averaged 9.7 on 17 punt returns. On kickoff returns, he handled 13 with spectacular results, a nifty 29.5 average. Lennon Creer, backup tailback, shared kickoff return responsibilities, averaging 18.7 yards on 13 opportunities.

Phillip FULMER

Head Football Coach
17th Season
Dean of SEC Coaches
147 Wins, 15 Bowl Games
90 NFL Draft Picks

The dean of Southeastern Conference coaches, Fulmer has claimed a national championship, two conference titles and seven divisional crowns while winning better than three-quarters of his games. He also retains his rank atop the winning percentage list for coaches with at least 10 years experience in major college football.

Yet Fulmer's most cherished responsibility centers around the teaching and guidance of young student-athletes. He has built Tennessee football on a platform of "Family First" – something UT's players and coaches say is this program's greatest attribute.

And while his on-field accomplishments – like advancing the Vols to the 2007 SEC Championship Game and claiming 10 wins for the ninth time in 15 full seasons – have obvious allure, it's the personal relationships that register most sincerely for Tennessee's native son.

Now suddenly and – as is his nature – without fanfare, Fulmer finds himself within reach of a coaching milestone that stands near and dear to the hearts of all Volunteers.

Gen. Robert R. Neyland finished a hall of fame career in 1952 with 173 coaching victories. Fulmer enters the 2008 campaign with 147 coaching victories. Twenty-seven more wins breaks the gold standard in Big Orange Country.

Fulmer and his relentless Vols played in the SEC Championship Game in Atlanta last season for the fifth time in 11 years.

"The 2007 team was one of my most pleasurable to coach," Fulmer says. "The pride of the players, their focus and consistent improvement through the year -- it all culminated in our winning the Eastern Division championship and Outback Bowl."

Fulmer also joined an elite coaching list last season when his career record improved to 100 games over the .500 mark. Currently 147-45, Fulmer joins Bobby Bowden, Joe Paterno, Jim Tressel, Steve Spurrier, Chris Ault and Frank Beamer as the only active coaches in that fraternity.

And Fulmer's 16 seasons of coaching are the fewest of the seven owning that distinction.

Nine Fulmer-coached teams have eclipsed the 10-win mark and two others just missed with nine victories. The highlight came in 1998 when Tennessee capped a perfect 13-0 season with a Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State.

The Volunteers under their native son have 147 triumphs against only 45 defeats for a winning percentage of .766. No active coach with at least a decade in Division I-A has such a lofty victory rate.

And speaking of the last 10 years, Tennessee under Fulmer is 93-34 during that span.

Phillip Fulmer's love for college football is genuine.

Head coach Phillip Fulmer and his wife, Vicky, committed $1 million in 2007 to UT's Campaign for Tennessee. Fulmer has been affiliated with the university for more than 30 years as a student-athlete, coach and parent of four UT students. The gift is being split equally between academics and athletics.

There is nothing to suggest Fulmer is in any danger of letting up. He is averaging nearly 9½ wins a season for the last decade, with five SEC Eastern Division titles during that span and two overall league crowns.

The Winchester native joined former Nebraska legend Tom Osborne as the only coaches to lead a team to a bowl game in their first 13 years of coaching.

Since Fulmer took over, more than 10 million fans have passed through the Neyland Stadium turnstiles. In 1998, Fulmer rewarded those supporters by guiding Tennessee to its sixth national championship with a perfect 13-0 record and a Tostitos Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State.

An accepted measure of a program's success, Tennessee's position in the national polls also has been a testimonial to Fulmer's sure hand at the helm. Under Fulmer, the Vols had a streak of 54 consecutive weeks ranked in the top 10.

UT has been in the national polls at game time for 168 of Fulmer's 191 games as head coach.

Fulmer's brilliant coaching record also includes these accomplishments:

■ Selection as National and SEC coach of the year in 1998.

■ The first Tennessee team to post 13 victories in a single season, a record in 1998 that included an SEC championship and Tostitos Fiesta Bowl win for the national title.

■ Back-to-back SEC titles in 1997-98 and five Eastern Division crowns in the last 10 years. The Vols have won or tied for the division title seven times under Fulmer.

■ A record of 45-5 from 1995-98, the most victories over a four-year span in school history.

■ Six seasons finishing in the top 10 nationally and 13 seasons ranked in the top 25.

■ Seventeen Tennessee players have earned first-team All-America honors, including offensive tackle Arron Sears and wide receiver Robert Meachem in 2006 and placekicker Daniel Lincoln in 2007.

■ Sixteen first-round NFL selections since 1993 and a total of 90 players selected overall. The team's five first-day 2007 NFL Draft picks were the most of any school and UT has led the SEC with the most players on opening-day NFL rosters each of the last two seasons.

■ Fourteen bowl games have welcomed the Vols, including 12 January bowl invitations.

■ In two of the last three seasons, Tennessee football has led the SEC in Academic Honor Roll recipients.

Phillip and Vicky Fulmer with Phillip Jr., and his wife, Donna, and daughters Brittany and Allison. The Fulmers' oldest daughter, Courtney, married former Vols linebacker Robert Peace last October.

Fulmer's record becomes all the more remarkable because of the rugged gauntlet of opponents faced by the Vols. Tennessee's schedule is regularly among the toughest in the nation. In addition to the demanding SEC slate, the Vols stray far from home to meet such traditional national powerhouses as UCLA, Notre Dame, California, Miami and Syracuse.

Tennessee has gone 44-33 against ranked competition under Fulmer.

The former Vols offensive lineman served 13 years as a Vols assistant beginning in 1980 before becoming the 20th head football coach at Tennessee. The decision to elevate Fulmer occurred five seasons after he was appointed assistant head coach and three seasons after he became offensive coordinator.

During Fulmer's tenure as offensive coordinator, the Vols set school records for total offensive yardage three years in a row (1989-91). Records have fallen with even greater frequency since he became head coach.

Year after year with Fulmer as head coach, Tennessee continues to stand in the top ranks of college football for graduating players who go on to careers in the professional game.

The 2007 NFL Draft saw six UT players drafted, including a nation's-best five on the first day. Standouts Justin Harrell and Robert Meachem were first-round selections of the Green Bay Packers and New Orleans Saints, respectively.

Fulmer is the national spokesperson for the Jason Foundation Inc., and considers such experiences essential to the education process of UT football players. He recently was named the first recipient of the "Grant Teaff Breaking the Silence Award," presented jointly by the AFCA and the Jason Foundation.

He also has served on such boards of directors as Boys and Girls Clubs, American Football Coaches Association, Team Focus and Child and Family Services.

Fulmer is married to the former Vicky Morey and has four children: Phillip Jr., Courtney, Brittany and Allison.

John CHAVIS

Associate Head Coach
Defensive Coordinator
Linebackers

Defensive coordinator and associate head coach John Chavis instituted a simple but time-tested formula for his 2007 Tennessee defensive unit -- make the big plays when they count. It has been his philosophy since Day One.

The Vols defense rallied from humble beginnings to last season and wound up playing its best football down the stretch. Doing so with a superb mixture of youth and veterans, UT won the SEC Eastern Division title, performed admirably in the SEC Championship Game and then captured the Outback Bowl to finish off a 10-win season.

Key defensive efforts were the norm over the last half of 2007. Chavis' Vols completely stifled vaunted rushing attacks from Georgia and Arkansas to claim easy home victories. Four forced turnovers proved the difference in an overtime win against South Carolina. Key three-and-outs allowed Tennessee to rally against Vanderbilt for its largest home fourth-quarter comeback in school history. And one of the plays of the year, a two-point conversion stop against Kentucky in the fourth overtime, sent Tennessee to the Georgia Dome as division champions.

UT then held LSU, the conference's top scoring unit, to just one offensive touchdown in a narrow loss for the SEC title. But Chavis' charges were impressive again at the Outback Bowl, when a late interception staved off a 21-17 victory for its fourth 10-win season in the last seven years.

In almost every occasion, the Vols made the big plays when they counted.

One of those making a difference on the field under Chavis' direction was linebacker Jerod Mayo, who led the SEC in tackles with 140 and was a consensus All-SEC first team selection. Mayo was selected 10th overall in the first round of the 2008 NFL Draft by the New England Patriots.

Chavis was recognized in 2006 as the American Football Coaches Association's Division I-A Assistant Coach of the Year.

"It was a great honor to be selected," Chavis said. "Anytime you're recognized by your peers it's special, it's truly special. The people in this profession know what's happening on a daily basis and they see things other people don't see. They're in the same battles we are in, and to be recognized by your peers is the greatest compliment that can be paid.

"It also shows what we've been able to do here at Tennessee through the years. Obviously, we have a great staff to work with in Dan Brooks, Steve Caldwell and Larry Slade, and Coach Fulmer brings it all together. This award reflects what they've done as well as what I've done."

Chavis enters his 20th year as an assistant coach at Tennessee and 30th overall. He began his coaching career at Tennessee in 1979 as a graduate assistant, then moved to Alabama A&M from 1980-83 as a defensive line coach. Chavis moved to defensive coordinator at Alabama State from 1984-85, then returned to Alabama A&M as defensive coordinator in 1986 and built a unit that ranked No. 1 in total defense in Division II from 1987-88.

He returned to his alma mater, Tennessee, in 1989 and took on responsibilities of the defensive line and linebackers. Chavis was promoted to defensive coordinator in 1995 and has produced some of the stingiest defenses in college football. Since 1995, Chavis' defenses have held their opponents below a 100-yard rushing average in six seasons, and eight times during that span the Vols have ranked among the top three in the SEC in total defense.

Chavis, who originally hails from Dillon, S.C., is married to the former Diane Crisp. They are the parents of sons John and Jason.

Dave CLAWSON

Offensive Coordinator
Quarterbacks

Dave Clawson arrives in Knoxville as one of Division I football's rising stars.

His being named Tennessee's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach was a signature moment for the Vols. Clawson became only the third individual to hold the position during Phillip Fulmer's 16 years as head coach and the first without previous Tennessee ties.

Clawson, who turns 41 in August, comes to UT after leading Richmond as head coach to its best season in school history. The Spiders' 11-3 campaign in 2007 ended only at the hands of three-time national titlist Appalachian State in the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision semifinals.

But Clawson has succeeded everywhere he's landed.

His two head coaching jobs (58-49 record) resurrected first Fordham, boosting a Rams program coming off 12 straight losing seasons into NCAA playoff participants, and then Richmond, which twice advanced to the postseason. Before that, Clawson called the offensive plays for another pair of Division I-AA powerhouses in Lehigh and Villanova. In fact, Clawson coached alongside new Vols assistant coach Stan Drayton for three years in the late 1990s during a successful Villanova football era.

Clawson twice has been named national Division I-AA coach of the year, winning once at Fordham and once at Richmond, and four times in the last seven years earned his league coaching honors. In 2005 and 2007, the Richmond Touchdown Club selected him College Coach of the Year over the likes of Virginia Tech's Frank Beamer and Virginia's Al Groh.

Quarterback development and pro production have been Clawson staples. Eight times in his 14 years as either an offensive coordinator or head coach, Clawson's quarterbacks earned all-conference honors. In addition, NFL regulars such as two-time 1,000-yard rusher Brian Westbrook (Eagles), receiver Brian Finneran (Falcons), tailback Rabih Abdullah (Bucs, Bears and Patriots), quarterbacks Stacey Tutt (Jets) and Kevin Eakin (Bills), and defensive lineman Aki Jones (Redskins) have benefited from Clawson's system and tutelage.

This past spring, Richmond wide receiver Arman Shields was a fourth-round pick of the Oakland Raiders and tailback Tim Hightower was a fifth-round selection of the Arizona Cardinals.

Clawson has proven himself a program builder and offensive specialist.

His 19 combined victories during his final two years (2002-03) at Fordham were the most wins there in back-to-back seasons since 1918-19. Then he guided Richmond to the biggest two-year turnaround in Spider football's 124-year history, improving from 3-8 his first season of 2004 to 9-4 and an NCAA playoff berth the following year.

A native of Youngstown, N.Y., located on the shores of Lake Ontario just 30 minutes north of Buffalo, Clawson played defensive back in football and also basketball at Williams College in Massachusetts. He graduated in 1989, and then began a two-year assistant coaching stop at Albany. From there, he coached two years at Buffalo and three at Lehigh, including his first two years, 1994-95, as an offensive coordinator.

Clawson then was named offensive coordinator at Villanova, where Drayton and he helped establish 70 school records and led the Wildcats to the I-AA playoffs in 1996 and 1997. Under Clawson's tutelage, receiver Brian Finneran won the Walter Payton Award, given to I-AA's most outstanding player, and Brian Westbrook became the first student-athlete in NCAA history to gain more than 1,000 yards rushing and 1,000 yards receiving in a season.

Fulmer's coaching search began after the 2007 season when David Cutcliffe was named Duke's head coach. Cutcliffe and Randy Sanders, both of whom coached on the UT staff before their promotions, were the only previous offensive coordinators during Fulmer's 16 years at the Vols helm.

Clawson is married to the former Catherine Ewald. They have a daughter, Courtney, and a son, Eric.

Greg ADKINS

Assistant Football Coach
Offensive Line

Tennessee's offensive line under assistant coach Greg Adkins is making national headlines.

The Vols allowed only four sacks in 2007 to lead all Football Bowl Subdivision teams. The next closest unit was Rutgers with 10 sacks, while Arkansas and Florida tied for SEC silver honors with 13 sacks apiece.

Tennessee's 534 team passing attempts computed to one sack allowed every 133.5 attempts, far and away the leader of all major college teams. Such productivity helped the Vols offense to the triple milestones of a 3,000-yard passer, 1,000-yard rusher and 1,000-yard receiver in the same season.

Adkins returns the top six members -- Ramon Foster, Jacques McClendon, Josh McNeil, Anthony Parker, Vladimir Richard and Chris Scott -- of the unit that finished the 2007 season, including All-America candidate Parker. The Jonesboro, Ga., product was named All-America second team last season by Associated Press and third team by Rivals.com.

In 2006, Adkins coached Arron Sears to the conclusion of a brilliant career. The offensive tackle earned 2006 All-America and All-SEC honors and was named the Vols' first winner since 1990 of the SEC Jacobs Blocking Trophy.

Adkins spent his first three years at UT as the assistant offensive line coach, with primary responsibilities for tight ends. He also coordinated the Vols' national recruiting reputation as Director of Recruiting. During his first three seasons in Knoxville, UT signed players from 21 states and the District of Columbia.

Adkins, 40, came to the Vols in 2003 from Troy, where he held similar duties. Adkins' work with the offensive line helped the Trojans make the transition from Division I-AA.

Before coaching at Troy, Adkins spent five years as an assistant at Georgia under Jim Donnan. He coached the Bulldogs' defensive line in 1996 and oversaw tight ends and the offensive line from 1997-2000. During his tenure in Athens, the Bulldogs posted a 40-19 record in five seasons and appeared in four bowl games.

Adkins coached a pair of NFL draftees on the Bulldogs defensive line -- Jason Ferguson and Jermaine Smith -- and All-SEC tight end Larry Brown.

A native of Cross Lanes, W.Va., Adkins arrived at Georgia with Donnan in 1996 after spending 10 seasons at Marshall as a player and coach. Adkins was a part of 97 Thundering Herd victories during his decade. He was a four-year letterman on the offensive line from 1986-89 and served as team captain during his senior season.

Adkins coached a variety of positions at Marshall, including offensive line, defensive tackles and tight ends. In 1990, he helped with the transition of future two-time All-America selection Phil Ratliff from defensive line to offensive line. He also was part of the Marshall coaching staff when the Herd led the Southern Conference in rushing defense in 1992 and scoring offense from 1993-95.

A coaching highlight for Adkins while at Marshall was the team's 1992 NCAA Division I-AA national championship victory over rival Youngstown State. He also had a hand in the three other second-place finishes for the school.

Adkins is married to the former Michelle Gillespie, also of Cross Lanes. They have two sons, Nicholas and Nathan, and a daughter, Natalie.

Dan BROOKS

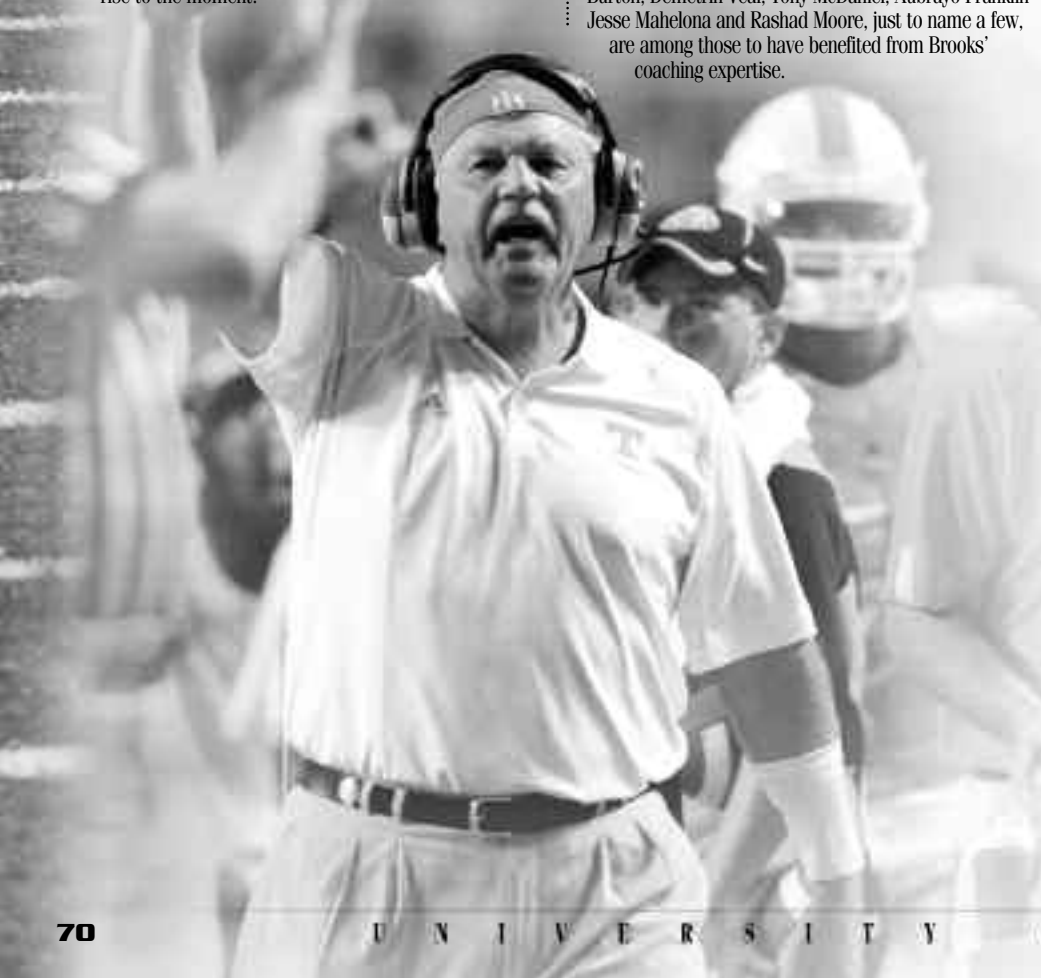
Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Line

As he does season after season, Tennessee assistant coach Dan Brooks had his defensive line playing its best football down the stretch of 2007.

And it was defensive tackle Dan Williams who made one of the season's signature plays, blocking a Kentucky field goal in overtime to help the Vols advance to the SEC Championship Game. Afterward, Williams gave Brooks all the credit for his preparation and ability to rise to the moment.

Brooks' remarkable run of success as mentor of the UT defensive line continues into this 15th season in Big Orange Country. And although Brooks is highly regarded in coaching circles at the national level, he also considers himself a player's coach who has the full confidence of those performing around him.

Such former Vols and current NFL notables as John Henderson, Darwin Walker, Albert Haynesworth, Shane Burton, Demetrin Veal, Tony McDaniel, Aubrayo Franklin Jesse Mahelona and Rashad Moore, just to name a few, are among those to have benefited from Brooks' coaching expertise.



Prior to the 2006 season, Justin Harrell was prepared to set the standard for excellence until injuring his biceps muscle in the second game of the season. Still, Harrell displayed the toughness and strength developed under Brooks by playing through the injury in one final game against rival Florida. Harrell was rewarded for his overall determination when the Green Bay Packers selected him in the first round of the 2007 NFL Draft.

Harrell was joined in that draft by teammate Turk McBride, who was a second-round selection of the Kansas City Chiefs.

A measure of Phillip Fulmer's confidence in Brooks came after the 1998 season when he designated Dan to take on additional duties as the Vols' recruiting coordinator. Brooks has since passed along those responsibilities, but during his stint the Vols annually ranked among the nation's elite in the recruiting wars.

His previous experience as a coach included stops at Florida and North Carolina. And the veteran Carolina native still has the zest for football he experienced when he was given his first job at Western Carolina in 1975.

A Western Carolina graduate, Brooks received his master's from Florida. He coached at Western Carolina, Kings Mountain (N.C.) High School and Florida before taking a job with Mack Brown at North Carolina in 1988.

In 1990, the North Carolina defense set a school record by registering 45 sacks, of which 19 were by the defensive line. In Brooks' final season before coming to UT, the Tar Heels led the Atlantic Coast Conference in sacks with 38.

The 2000 Vols recorded an SEC-leading 50 sacks, a school record, and the 2001 unit again led the league in sacks with 34. The 1996 Big Orange posted another school mark, 83 tackles for lost yardage.

In 2005, Tennessee led the SEC in rushing defense and ranked second in Division I-A.

Brooks, after the 1998 national championship season at UT, was awarded recognition as the Southeastern Conference's outstanding defensive line coach.

Brooks and his wife, the former Kathy Whitaker, are the parents of two children. Tara recently graduated from UT and currently serves as a Lady Vols graduate assistant, while Rhett is a member of the Murray State football team.

Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Ends

Steve Caldwell's 13 seasons on Phillip Fulmer's staff have seen the defensive end position maintain its lofty standard of excellence.

Xavier Mitchell and Antonio Reynolds, senior bookends one year ago, both had hands in Tennessee's SEC Eastern Division-clinching win at Kentucky. Mitchell intercepted his first career pass to set up a key touchdown, and then Reynolds stopped a pair of Wildcat two-point conversion attempts – including a sack on the game's final play to send the Vols to Atlanta.

Caldwell has advanced several Vols into the NFL, joining such former stalwarts as Shaun Ellis, Demetrin Veal and Parys Haralson.

Among Caldwell's most accomplished pupils was Will Overstreet, who not only finished his UT career with 19 sacks to tie for eighth on the all-time school list, but also mirrored the coach's emphasis on studies by being named to the 2001 Academic All-America second team. After retiring from professional football, Overstreet returned to campus and completed his undergraduate degree in May 2005.

A dean's list student himself at Arkansas State, Caldwell played four years of football for the Indians as a defensive end and linebacker.

Fulmer, who had worked with Caldwell from the latter's term as a graduate assistant coach on the Tennessee staff in 1990, brought Caldwell back to UT before the 1995 season.

His first taste of coaching came over three seasons at his alma mater, from 1978-80. From Jonesboro, Caldwell moved on to Northwest Mississippi Community College, where he coached the offensive line for four seasons and was part of a national championship team in 1982.

He then came back to Arkansas State, coaching linebackers under head coach and former UT defensive coordinator Larry Lacewell during a notable period of success for the Indians. A-State advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals three straight seasons from 1985-87, including a 1986 squad that finished 12-2-1 and lost in the national championship game. The Indians' only other blemishes that season were a loss to Mississippi State and a tie against Ole Miss.

Caldwell's 1985 linebacking unit helped Arkansas State lead Division I-AA in total defense with an average of only 258.8 yards per game.

Subsequent jobs took him to Tennessee, Pacific and Nevada, the latter school as co-defensive coordinator for the 1994 Big West Conference champions. Caldwell coached briefly at Mississippi before accepting Fulmer's entreaty to join the Vols.

Ten times in Caldwell's 13 seasons, the Vols defense has ranked in the top four among league schools in total defense. UT's defensive unit has led the SEC in fewest rushing yards allowed three times since 1995. Tennessee's defensive front had its most recent banner season in 2005, sparking the Vols defense to the best rushing yardage average (82.5) in the league and second-best showing nationally.

Caldwell also has received deserved credit of late for his work on the recruiting front, helping Tennessee sign what many observers call on an annual basis some of the nation's top recruiting classes.

Stan DRAYTON

Assistant Football Coach
Running Backs

Stan Drayton's arrival on the Tennessee coaching scene is a perfect fit.

Drayton, 37, comes to the Vols after spending three years on the Florida football staff and one season before that at Mississippi State. In addition to familiarity with his former conference rivals, Drayton also coached previously at Villanova with fellow off-season hire Dave Clawson.

Drayton's responsibility at UT is running backs, the same position he managed at both SEC schools and when coaching with Clawson. He appears to be enjoying his renewed kinship with the Vols newest offensive coordinator.

"It gives me an opportunity to bring some things to the table from different styles of offense -- from the spread offense and a pro-style offense," Drayton said. "It gives me a chance to scheme and dream a little bit putting some good athletes to work."

Drayton has spent a combined 12 years coaching running backs on the collegiate level in addition to three seasons in the NFL. He helped Green Bay to three-straight NFC playoff appearances during his 2001-03 stint with the Packers as offensive quality control and assistant special teams coach.

Several Drayton disciples have made their marks in the college and professional football ranks.

Brian Westbrook played under Drayton at Villanova, becoming the first player on any collegiate level to record more than 1,000 yards rushing and 1,000 yards receiving in the same season. Westbrook was a third-round selection by the Philadelphia Eagles in the 2002 draft and is coming off his second consecutive 1,000-yard rushing season in 2007.

Another power running back who received a year of stewardship under Drayton was Mississippi State's Jerious Norwood. The SEC's third-leading rusher in 2004, Norwood gained 1,050 yards during his only season with Drayton and has gone on to become the featured back for the Atlanta Falcons.

"I feel very privileged to have the opportunity at Tennessee," Drayton said. "Being a former NFL coach, I know that those professional coaches look for running backs coming out of the SEC because those guys understand how to run the football against speed and big bodies. In my opinion, running in the SEC is the closest thing there is to running the football in the NFL."

Florida ranked third in the SEC and 23rd nationally in rushing last season with an average of 200.2 yards.

Drayton was named one of the nation's 25 best recruiters by Rivals.com for his part in the 2007 Florida signing class ranked No. 1 by most outlets.

Before coaching in the professional ranks, Drayton spent the 2000 season at Bowling Green as running backs and special teams assistant. This came after his four-year stay at Villanova.

Drayton was a three-year starter himself as a running back at Allegheny (Pa.) College. The Cleveland, Ohio, native was a three-time, first-team All-America selection, an Associated Press Little All-America first-team member and set the Division III season records for touchdowns (28) and TDs per game (2.8).

He remains Allegheny's all-time leading rusher and scorer and helped the Gators claim the 1990 Division III national championship. In addition to football, Drayton also twice earned All-America status in track and field, competing in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes.

Drayton is married to the former Monique Fuller of Detroit. They are the parents of two children, Amari and Anaya.

Jason MICHAEL

Assistant Football Coach
Tight Ends

Jason Michael's return to Knoxville from the New York Jets was the final piece in Phillip Fulmer's reloading of the Tennessee offensive coaching staff.

Michael, 29, serves as the Vols tight ends coach. He was assistant tight end coach for the 2007 Jets after spending the previous year as the team's offensive quality control coach. The former Tennessee graduate assistant spent three years in the NFL.

"We were very pleased to add Jason Michael to our staff," Fulmer said. "We went through a good interview process with a number of outstanding candidates.

"Jason brought a familiarity with our program along with great experience from the National Football League. He had great recommendations from the people he worked for. I thought his youthful energy, enthusiasm and passion for the game would make him an outstanding part of our staff, and that has proved to be the case. I'm looking forward to working with him in the years to come."

The Louisa, Ky., native completed Fulmer's offensive staff overhaul brought about when David Cutcliffe announced at the end of last year he had accepted the head coaching position at Duke. Fellow assistants Kurt Roper and Matt Luke followed Cutcliffe to Duke, while Trooper Taylor was named co-offensive coordinator at Oklahoma State.

Fulmer in a nine-day period of January named Michael to his position, Dave Clawson offensive coordinator, Stan Drayton running backs coach and Latrell Scott wide receivers coach. Only offensive line coach Greg Adkins remains from the 2007 roster on that side of the ball.

Michael previously served two years at Tennessee, including the 2004 season spent as primary graduate assistant to John Chavis and the Volunteers defense and Steve Caldwell and the special teams staff. He first came to UT in January 2003, working as an assistant for both the strength and conditioning and video staffs.

Michael left Tennessee in early 2005 for his first full-time position, that of offensive quality control coach and video assistant for the Oakland Raiders.

"Coaching tight ends is what I did last season in New York," Michael said. "It's exciting to make the transition from the NFL to college. I'm looking forward to the similarities but also to the changes from the pro game to college.

"I'm excited about the other parts of the college game, too -- the seasonal changes like going through recruiting, signing day, spring football, the camps, and then the true season that college football is. And it all boils down to football."

His collegiate playing career was capped by guiding Western Kentucky to the 2002 NCAA Division I-AA football championship with a 34-14 victory over McNeese State in Chattanooga. That season, Michael passed for 1,661 yards and rushed for another 642 in pacing the Hilltoppers to a 12-3 record and victories in their final 10 games.

Michael completed his civil engineering technology degree from Western Kentucky in December 2002. He was selected to the Division I-AA Athletic Directors Academic All-Star Team and earned second-team Verizon Academic All-District IV honors. For his efforts on and off the field, Michael was named the school's male athlete of the year for 2003.

He married Knoxville's Jamie Mossburg this past June.

Latrell SCOTT

Assistant Football Coach
Wide Receivers

Latrell Scott handles Tennessee's wide receivers as part of the distinguished foursome of offensive coaches joining the football staff this season.

The former Richmond assistant received the strongest endorsement for the job from his previous boss, Dave Clawson, who was named UT's newest offensive coordinator just days before Scott accepted his position.

"He came highly recommended from Coach Clawson," head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "In the interview process and during spring practice, Latrell was energetic, knowledgeable, and showed all the signs of being an excellent teacher. He has an outstanding reputation as a recruiter and already is making an impact for us in that area."

Scott, 33, comes to UT after three coaching seasons with the Spiders, all as wide receivers coach, and nine seasons overall in the ranks. A Richmond native, Scott was elevated to Clawson's assistant head coach for 2007 and also served as the program's recruiting coordinator.

The Spiders turned in their best season in school history one year ago, an 11-3 finish that advanced them all the way to the national semifinals.

Richmond's leading pass-catcher was Kevin Grayson with a school-record 68 receptions for a freshman-record 970 yards and seven TDs. Senior Arman Shields began 2007 with a monster effort against Vanderbilt, catching 12 balls for 107 yards, before an injury limited him to just two more brief appearances. His skills and development under Scott, however, were enough to earn him a fourth-round NFL Draft selection by the Oakland Raiders.

Scott has at his disposal the entire Tennessee receiving corps from 2007, when UT wideouts combined to catch 226 passes for 2,669 yards and 19 touchdowns during a 10-4 campaign.

Among the veterans, Lucas Taylor led with 73 receptions and was the SEC's only receiver to top 1,000 regular season yards. Austin Rogers tied for second on the team in both catches (56) and yards (624), while Josh Briscoe paced the group with six TD receptions and had two of his best games in the SEC title contest and Outback Bowl.

The younger trio of Quintin Hancock, Denarius Moore and Gerald Jones also displayed flashes of brilliance. Hancock caught the winning, 40-yard touchdown in the fourth overtime at Kentucky, Moore set personal highs with four catches for 86 yards at the Outback Bowl, and Jones could be the next breakout performer with his versatility both as a wideout and in the backfield.

Spring drills were for meshing a new system to the returning personnel, and by all accounts it was a success.

"The carryover of Latrell's knowledge of Coach Clawson's system certainly helped us make the transition," Fulmer said. "He also is an outstanding person and husband."

Scott arrived in Richmond after spending three seasons as wide receivers coach at VMI. During his tenure in Lexington, VMI led the Big South Conference in passing in 2003.

His first coaching assignment was at Fork Union Military Academy, where he spent two seasons before being named an assistant at Western Carolina in 2001.

A three-year starter at tight end during his playing days at Hampton, Scott earned All-America honors following his senior season. He played on two Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference and NCAA playoff teams and also competed in the Gridiron All-Star Classic in Orlando, Fla. Scott graduated with a sport management degree in 2001.

Scott is married to the former Brandi Bradby of New Kent, Va.

Larry SLADE

Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Backs

Larry Slade turned in another one of his magical coaching performances in 2007, battling through several injuries in the secondary to post one of the SEC's top units down the stretch.

This year's edition might just be one of the nation's best right out of the gate.

Eric Berry returns for his second season after a Freshman All-America campaign that saw him notch five interceptions for a school-record 222 yards. Berry added 55 yards in fumble returns and led all SEC freshmen with 86 tackles. He likely will be joined at safety by Demetrice Morley, back after a one-year hiatus and coming off an impressive showing during spring drills.

The cornerbacks were thrown into the fire last year — five would-be starters were missing by season's end for one reason or another — but Slade says those trials should pay dividends in 2008. DeAngelo Willingham, Dennis Rogan, Antonio Gaines, Marsalous Johnson and Brent Vinson all will be vying for playing time.

Slade is in 10th season on the UT coaching staff and continues turning out some of the nation's best secondary units.

Over the course of the last four seasons, Tennessee's defensive backfield has produced such NFL signees as Super Bowl champion Gibril Wilson, Super Bowl participant Deon Grant, Rashad Baker, Jabari Greer, Jonathan Wade and Jason Allen, who was selected in the 2006 first round by the Miami Dolphins.

In addition to this group's significant on-field success, Slade says he is proudest of the fact that most of his former pupils have earned their college degrees.

Slade's 2000 and 2001 secondary units, aided and abetted by the rest of the defense, established school season records with 64 and 72 passes broken up, respectively. It continued a pattern of success that Slade has enjoyed in his 35 years in the coaching profession.

Slade, 57, is a native of Pelham, N.C., who twice was named All-West Virginia while playing guard at Shepherd in the early 1970s. He was named Little All-America honorable mention in 1971 and later inducted into the Shepherd College Hall of Fame.

He received his degree in biology with a minor in English.

Slade's coaching career began at his alma mater with a nine-year stay before subsequent stops at Richmond, Howard, Southern Illinois, Washington and Maryland.

His six-year tenure as secondary coach at Washington was highlighted by a national championship season in 1991, during which the Huskies ranked first in NCAA statistics for pass efficiency defense.

Slade left Washington in 1992 for Maryland to serve as defensive coordinator, a post he held for two seasons before moving to Texas A&M.

His 1997 Aggies secondary allowed only three passing touchdowns, fewest in the nation. Slade's first unit at Tennessee also sparkled by allowing 214.9 yards per game through the air and making 21 interceptions against only 15 touchdown passes.

Married to the former Izetta Willingham, Slade has three children, Herbie, Roshawn and Lyndsey.

Bruce WARWICK

Assistant Athletics Director, Football Operations

Bruce Warwick brings a healthy mixture of collegiate and National Football League experience to the position of Assistant Athletics Director for Football Operations.

In his 17 years as a football administrator, the college teams he has been a part of have won four championships and participated in seven bowl games. Warwick's NFL tenure included three championships and six playoff games.

His duties at Tennessee call for oversight of all daily football-related operations. He supervises the community relations, equipment, recruiting, player relations and video departments. In addition, Warwick is responsible for the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center and the coordination of preseason camp, in-season practice sessions, travel, bowl arrangements and the football budget.

Warwick came to the Vols from Duke, spending 2006 with the Blue Devils as Director of Player Personnel/Development. During his one year in Durham, Warwick became heavily involved with Duke's recruiting efforts while serving as the liaison for academic support, community relations, ACC officials, computer technology and the Iron Dukes, a fund raising arm of the athletics department.

Before Duke it was six years with the NFL's Green Bay Packers as Assistant to General Manager/Director of Football Administration.

During his Packers tenure, Warwick directed the team's daily football operations en route to winning three consecutive NFC North Division titles and making four playoff appearances. The Packers were 53-27 over his first five years there, which was second only to the great Vince Lombardi teams in Packers history. He oversaw staff in the areas of strength, equipment, video, training room and player programs, as well as managing the annual training camp and mini-camps.

Warwick also was responsible for all coaching and personnel staff and scouts contracts. He was responsible for all new hires and the minority internship program, while serving as a liaison to the NFL office in New York and NFL officials.

Before joining the Packers in March 2000, he served briefly in New York City as Director of Football Administration for NFL Europe.

Warwick served as Director of Football Operations at Syracuse from 1996-99, managing the program during arguably the best football era in school history. Led by quarterback Donovan McNabb, the Orangemen won three consecutive Big East Conference championships and played in four bowl games, including two BCS appearances. Syracuse compiled a 33-16 record in that stretch and participated in the 1996 Liberty Bowl, 1997 Fiesta Bowl, 1999 Orange Bowl and 1999 Music City Bowl.

A Baldwinsville, N.Y., native, Warwick began his football administrative duties as Assistant Recruiting Coordinator at Syracuse during the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl season. He became Assistant to the AD for Football Operations at Maryland from 1992-93 before serving as the Assistant Athletics Director for Football Management at Clemson from 1994-95, during which time the Tigers played in the Gator Bowl.

Warwick graduated in 1989 with a business administration degree from Columbia College in Syracuse. He earned a master's in sports management in 1991 from the U.S. Sports Academy in Daphne, Ala.

Born Jan. 1, 1967, Warwick is married to the former Debra Zampini of Liverpool, N.Y. Together they have three sons: Alexander (6), Joseph (4) and Jacob (1).

Condredge HOLLOWAY

Assistant Athletics Director
Student-Athlete Relations & Lettermen

Another year, another hall of fame honor for "The Artful Dodger."

Condredge Holloway, one of the most celebrated players in Tennessee Volunteers history, begins his 11th year on the UT staff having just been inducted into the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame. That makes eight halls of fame for the former UT quarterback and All-America shortstop, but this latest milestone was particularly special.

"To be honored by your home state is very special and personal," said Holloway, a Huntsville native. "I visited the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame and was overwhelmed by the names of the athletes with ties to the state. The first bust I encountered was Joe Louis; the next two were Willie Mays and Hank Aaron. Just being in the same building with those men is quite an honor."

Holloway, 54, also is embarking on a new career path within the UT Athletics Department. He was named during the summer by athletics director Mike Hamilton to the new position of Assistant Athletics Director for Student-Athlete Relations & Lettermen.

Holloway is maintaining a number of his current duties but primarily now serves as the department's liaison with the Lettermen's Club, assisting with lettermen reunions and other projects. Public appearances on behalf of the department, always a strong suit for the popular Holloway, continue to be a major part of his job description.

Holloway also is the point person for numerous issues surrounding the conduct of a major college football program. He oversees disability insurance for the student-athletes and assists with the annual Pro Timing Day inside the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center.

In addition, Holloway is responsible for helping former Vols find their niche in the business world by assisting them with contacts and employment opportunities following graduation.

Holloway always will be associated in the minds of Tennessee fans with the razzle-dazzle offense he quarterbacked during his undergraduate days of the 1970s. Nicknamed "The Artful Dodger," Holloway became a master at packing excitement into every play, whether it developed into a pass or a ground-gaining scramble.

In his three seasons (1972-74) as a starter, Holloway directed the Vols to the 1972 Astro-Bluebonnet, 1973 Gator and 1974 Liberty bowls and an overall record of 25-9-2. He ended his career with the best interception-to-attempt ratio in Tennessee history, throwing just 12 interceptions in 407 collegiate attempts.

Holloway was also a fine baseball prospect and was selected out of high school by the Montreal Expos with their first overall pick. Baseball legend Buck O'Neal was the Expos representative who attempted to sign Holloway. He opted instead for a two-sport collegiate career and went on to excel on the diamond. Holloway garnered All-SEC and All-America honors as a shortstop in 1975 and still ranks ninth on UT's hitting list with a .353 career average.

Holloway left Knoxville and went on to play 13 seasons in the Canadian Football League, compiling impressive numbers while playing for the Ottawa Rough Riders (1975-80), Toronto Argonauts (1981-86) and British Columbia Lions (1987). He threw for more than 25,000 yards and rushed for another 3,167 while scoring 155 touchdowns. He was chosen the league's MVP in 1982.

After his professional playing days ended, Holloway returned to college and earned his UT degree.

In addition to his recent induction in Alabama, Holloway is a member of the Canadian Football Hall of Fame, Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, UT Baseball Hall of Fame and halls of fame for the cities of Toronto, Ottawa, Knoxville and Huntsville.

Holloway is married to the former Courtney Haralson of Meigs County and is the father of Jasmine and Condredge III.

Scott ALTIZER
Coordinator, Football Operations

Scott Altizer begins his 14th season with the Phillip Fulmer staff.

Among Altizer's numerous duties are maintaining internal and external relations within compliance of NCAA, SEC and UT rules and regulations.

He oversees the walk-on program and recruiting travel, monitors and manages the relationship between agents and student-athletes and oversees the recruiting office. He also organizes and directs special events such as the coaching clinic.

A native of nearby Morristown, Altizer joined the Tennessee program after graduating from Furman University in Greenville, S.C., with a degree in English. While attending Furman, Altizer played baseball for the Paladins and had a brief professional career. He holds a master's degree from Tennessee.

Altizer and his wife, the former Sandy Apple of Nashville, are the parents of 1-year-old Samantha.

Kevin VanDERZEE
Director, High School Relations

Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer concluded his offseason of restructuring last February by naming Kevin VanDerzee to the position of Director of High School Relations.

VanDerzee, 31, came to the Vols from Richmond and was the third former Spiders football staff member to join Fulmer's coaching lineup since the end of 2007. Offensive coordinator Dave Clawson, Richmond's former head coach, and wide receivers assistant Latrell Scott also made the move to Knoxville.

A native of Ravena, N.Y., VanDerzee spent two seasons as Richmond's director of football operations after having served in the same position at Central Connecticut State and Massachusetts.

Other posts include a stint as defensive ends coach at Albany, game day operations associate with the Wilmington (N.C.) Sharks of the Coastal Plains Summer Baseball League and two turns in the New York Giants' player personnel department as a pro personnel intern.

"Kevin brings a varied background, including extensive experience with recruiting," Fulmer said. "He already has done a great job organizationally and continues to challenge our staff in a creative manner."

VanDerzee is a 2000 graduate of the State University of New York at Cortland.

Clint DOWDLE
Assistant to the Head Coach

Clint Dowdle is in his second season as Assistant to the Head Coach and third overall with the UT football program.

Dowdle, 25, oversees and monitors the team's academic progress rates while assisting with football operations. He also serves as liaison between the football staff and Thornton Athletics Student Life Center.

The Memphis native earned his business management degree in 2005 from Christian Brothers University, where he was a four-year basketball starter and three-year captain. He led the team in minutes, assists and steals all four years and twice was named Academic All-Gulf South Conference. Dowdle earned his master's in sport management from UT in 2007.

Dowdle captured high school All-State honors in both basketball and football at Evangelical Christian School, quarterbacking ECS to a pair of football state titles while earning Tennessee's Mr. Football award. In addition, the Memphis Commercial Appeal twice selected Dowdle to its Best of Preps list in both basketball and football and named him 2000-01 Male Athlete of the Year.

Johnny LONG
Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Johnny Long enters his seventh season on the Tennessee staff as Head Strength and Conditioning Coach.

Long's innovative and demanding conditioning regimen pushes the Vols to meet the lofty goals he sets to compete and succeed in the Southeastern Conference.

The former Olympic-caliber weightlifter began as a graduate assistant for the UT conditioning staff in 1994, and then advanced to the position of Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach two years later. He was named associate coach in 1999 before taking his current post.

He now holds the title of "Certified Collegiate Mentor" for strength and conditioning coaches across the country. In January 2004, Long served as strength coach for the Las Vegas All-American Classic all-star game.

Tennessee's emphasis on a strong fitness program is epitomized in Long, whose background in weight training underpinned his belief in the link between conditioning and athletics success. He is credited by head coach Phillip Fulmer with making physical fitness a basic component of Volunteers football.

Long also has continued the Tennessee tradition of training young coaches to advance in his profession. Roderick Moore's recent hiring at Florida International makes it 36 former Tennessee strength and conditioning coaches that have accepted head positions since Long and John Stucky took over at UT 13 years ago.

As an Olympic-caliber lifter, Long competed for 16 years before an injury halted his career at age 24. The Baton Rouge, La., native was a legend in his native state, competing in numerous Junior Olympics and national weightlifting events before coaching and instruction became his top priority.

Long was inducted in 2005 to the Louisiana Strength and Conditioning Hall of Fame.

Long, who graduated from Southeastern Louisiana University in 1994, is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association, the College Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association, the U.S. Weightlifting Federation and the American Football Coaches Association. He recently became the youngest coach ever voted into the Louisiana Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

Long is married to the former Misty Bumgartner of Sylva, N.C.

Johnny and Misty Long.

Chris STEWART
Associate

Chris Stewart is in his fifth season as Associate Strength and Conditioning Coach and his 11th year with the Volunteer program.

Stewart assists UT football student-athletes with their strength and conditioning and also is primary strength coach for the nationally acclaimed track and field team. He serves as director for the annual UT Strength and Conditioning Clinic and can be seen working year-round in the complex with former Vols now in the professional or Olympic ranks.

Stewart earned a sport management/exercise science degree from Western Carolina in 1998 and completed his master's from UT in 2001. He is certified through the College Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association and joins head strength coach Johnny Long as an association mentor.

Stewart is married to the former Sherry Briggs of Fayetteville, N.C., and the couple has a son, Cole, and a daughter, Lily.

Harry GALBREATH
Associate

Harry Galbreath, an All-America offensive lineman for the Vols during his 1984-87 playing career, enters his second season as an associate strength and conditioning coach.

Galbreath, 43, returned to Tennessee after three separate stints as offensive line coach -- Austin Peay (1998-99), Tennessee State (2000-04) and Hampton (2005-06).

The Clarksville native played nine seasons in the NFL with the Dolphins, Packers and Jets after his UT career. In addition to his All-America and SEC Jacobs Trophy accolades, Galbreath was selected as a member of Tennessee's 100-Year All-Time Team in 1991.

"I was happy to be back home and Johnny has been very supportive," Galbreath said of his return to the UT campus. "I have acclimated myself to the team and continue to do what I can to help out."

Dan HAMILTON
Assistant

Dan Hamilton became a key member of Johnny Long's strength and conditioning staff when he was named assistant strength and conditioning coach in summer 2006.

The Randolph, Ohio, native previously spent time as a volunteer and graduate assistant for the Vols. He continues alongside the rehabilitation and training staffs, working hand-in-hand to get athletes back on the field.

The 29-year-old has been at Tennessee since summer of 2002, conditioning the golf, spirit and dance squads in addition to his football assistance. He developed a year-round strength and conditioning program for the nationally ranked golf team.

Hamilton, who graduated in 2002 from Ohio State University in sport and leisure studies with an athletic training emphasis, earned his master's degree in human performance and sports studies at UT in 2004.

He married Sarah Hilker of Akron, Ohio, this past May.

Brian Gearity
Assistant, Baseball/Football

Troy Wills
Assistant, Basketball

Jason McVEIGH
Head Athletic Trainer

Jason McVeigh directs an impressive and qualified sports medicine team in his third year as Tennessee's Head Athletic Trainer.

Made up of 10 certified athletic trainers, UT's Sports Medicine staff is the only one in the Southeastern Conference to also include two full-time staff physical therapists. It provides on-site care to student-athletes by a primary care physician, team orthopedists, paramedics, pharmacists, a chiropractor and massage therapists. The staff also contracts with a variety of other in-town medical consultants to work towards meeting its goal of what McVeigh calls "providing world-class health care to all student-athletes."

The newly renovated Tim Kerin Athletic Training Room contains approximately 8,000 square feet, including a state-of-the-art physical therapy clinic, a renovated hydro-therapy room, a state-licensed pharmacy and the newly dedicated Bob and Eddy Rubright Team Physician's Clinic. In 2007, UT's athletic training room became the first collegiate facility in the country to acquire the Proprio 5000, a state-of-the-art balance testing and rehab unit.

The 33-year old McVeigh has been on the Tennessee sports medicine staff since 1999, when he was named Director of Rehabilitation. He spent the first seven years directly overseeing the comeback of all Volunteer athletes from surgery and other injuries, and was promoted to head the department in May 2006.

"Jason is well-trained and we are fortunate to have someone who is both a certified athletic trainer and a licensed physical therapist," UT athletics director Mike Hamilton said. "We appreciate his leadership and expertise."

McVeigh graduated Summa Cum Laude from UT in 1996 with a B.S. degree in biology. He then went on to receive his master's degree in Physical Therapy from Duke University in 1999.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., McVeigh graduated from Jonesborough's David Crockett High in 1992. He is married to the former Jennifer Bruorton of Marietta, Ga.

They have two children, 1-year-old twins Caitlin and Carson.

Jason and Jennifer McVeigh with Carson and Caitlin.

John DEAN
Director of Rehabilitation

John Dean, MPT, ATC, has entered his third year as the Director of Rehabilitation for the UT Sports Medicine Staff.

Prior to coming to Tennessee, John was responsible for treating all injuries to the Florida football team and was an instructor in the Applied Physiology & Kinesiology Department teaching a course in Rehabilitation. He previously was an athletic trainer at Southern California, working with the football and baseball programs, including the Trojans' 2003 national champion football team.

A native of American Fork, Utah, Dean graduated Magna Cum Laude from San Diego State University in 2000 with a degree in kinesiology. He completed his Master's degree in physical therapy at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Dean is an experienced clinician and educator who is active in the National Athletic Trainers Association and has presented at several regional and national conferences.

He and his wife, Kris, live in Knoxville with their daughter Addison.

Robb DUNCANSON
Associate Athletic Trainer, Football

Robb Duncanson has entered his third season as UT's Associate Athletic Trainer for football. He assists with all aspects of day-to-day medical care and medical operations, while serving as coordinator of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health and Wellness Programs. Duncanson also oversees the graduate assistant athletic trainers for football and tennis.

The 31-year-old came to the Vols in 2006 after four years in the same position at South Florida. Prior to his tenure at USF, Duncanson served as co-head athletic trainer with the Louisville Fire of the Arena2 Football League and was a seasonal assistant athletic trainer for the New York Jets.

A 1999 sports science graduate of Elmira College, Duncanson earned his master's in sports administration at the University of Louisville in 2001. He was named 2005 Athletic Trainer of the Year and received the 2004 President's Backbone Award by the Athletic Trainers' Association of Florida.

A Middletown, N.Y., native, Duncanson is married to the former Carrie Clark, an athletic trainer with the Lady Vols and UT letterwinner. The Duncansons have a 2-year-old daughter, Avery.

Allison MAURER
Sports Nutritionist

Allison Maurer's commitment to excellence in sports nutrition is a big part of the Tennessee winning edge.

Maurer, 28, is one of only 13 full-time sports nutritionists at the NCAA Division I level. She is responsible for coordinating grocery-shopping tours for student-athletes, weight-gain and weight-loss programs and performance nutrition -- what Maurer calls "healthy eating." Maurer also teaches an undergraduate-level sports nutrition class that is encouraged for all Lady Vols team members.

She handles meal planning for football and baseball, works closely with Team ENHANCE and issues regarding disordered eating and conducts body composition testing for men's athletics. Maurer also authors a department newsletter covering the entire realm of nutrition education.

The Holland, Mich., native began her work with the Vols and Lady Vols in October 2007 after three years at Colorado. Her responsibilities there were as sports nutritionist for all programs and assistant strength and conditioning coach for football, tennis, golf and cheerleading.

Maurer earned her undergraduate degree in nutrition and dietetics from Olivet Nazarene University in 2002. She completed her master's in nutrition from Georgia State University in 2003.

She and her husband, Dan, of Addison, Ill., are the parents of 1-year-old Manny.

Allison and Dan Maurer with Manny.

Dr. Chris KLENCK
Team Physician

Dr. Chris Klenck is a rising star in the medical profession as team physician on the UT Sports Medicine staff.

Klenck, 36, came to Knoxville in November 2006 following a primary care sports medicine fellowship at Indiana University Medical Center. He had served the Indianapolis hospital since June 2001 in the positions of Internal Medicine/Pediatrics intern, resident and chief resident.

During fellowship training, Klenck was an assistant team physician for the Indianapolis Colts preseason training camps and assisted at Purdue University, his alma mater. He worked the NFL Scouting Combines in Indianapolis, has NCAA championships experience and served as a team physician in the Indiana high school ranks.

An Evansville, Ind., native, Klenck earned his doctor of pharmacy degree from Purdue before completing his doctor of medicine degree at Indiana University School of Medicine. He is a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics, American College of Physicians, American Medical Society for Sports Medicine and American College of Sports Medicine. Klenck is board certified in internal medicine, pediatrics and primary care sports medicine.

Klenck is married to the former Laura Botto of Dayton, Ohio. They are the parents of three children: Jacob, 8; Ben, 7; and Ella, 4.

Roger FRAZIER
Equipment Manager

Equipment Manager Roger Frazier is responsible for all football equipment issue and maintenance, in addition to handling the purchasing and inventory control of all football game and practice gear.

He also serves as president of the SEC Equipment Managers Association and assists in new product development with Adidas.

Currently in his 26th year as a full-time staffer with the Volunteers football program, the UT graduate began his career in 1978 as student manager before being named equipment manager in spring 1983.

The equipment room was renamed the Roger Frazier and Max Parrott Football Equipment Room, given in their honor by Gordon, Melissa and Hannah Summerfield, in January 2003.

Frazier graduated from Bradley Central High School in Cleveland and played football. He and his wife, Donna, have two children, Brandon and Barrett.

Roger and Donna Frazier with Brandon and Barrett.

Max PARROTT
Assistant Equipment Manager

Max Parrott is into his 23rd season as assistant equipment manager under the direction of Roger Frazier.

Parrott began his association with the Volunteers football program as a student assistant in 1980 before coming back in 1985 to take on the equipment room duty on a full-time basis. He was promoted to his current position in 1987.

The equipment room was renamed the Roger Frazier and Max Parrott Football Equipment Room, given in their honor by Gordon, Melissa and Hannah Summerfield, in January 2003.

Parrott graduated from Soddy-Daisy High School and received his UT bachelor's degree in Arts and Sciences in 1984. He is married to the former Paige Davis of Lenoir City, and they enjoy boating on Norris Lake along with camping and snow skiing.

Max and Paige Parrott.

Allen SITZLER
Assistant Equipment Manager

Allen Sitzler became the newest member of Roger Frazier's staff when he was hired as full-time assistant equipment manager in September 2007.

The Cleveland native's responsibility includes managing the daily operation of the equipment room, from practice to scheduling, supervision of the student managers as well as ordering and maintaining the team's Adidas gear and football equipment.

Sitzler, 32, graduated from Cleveland High School and then Cleveland State Community College, playing baseball and basketball at both stops, before arriving at UT. He earned his undergraduate degree in communications, with a minor in sport management, and then completed his master's in sport administration.

During those years, Sitzler served as a student manager from 1996-2000, including the last two years as head student manager, before climbing aboard Frazier's staff in a part-time role.

Joe HARRINGTON
Sports Technology Coordinator

Joe Harrington enters his 18th season at Tennessee as the Vols' sports technology coordinator. Although his emphasis is on football, Harrington trains the staff working with all UT men's and women's sports teams.

His primary responsibilities include compiling and editing game and practice tapes for coaching analysis, cataloging game tapes and producing "cut-ups." He also manages all equipment and design of the Vols' video department, including the team's state-of-the-art XOS Technologies editing system.

A Camillus, N.Y., native, Harrington graduated from UT in 1990 with a communications degree. The College Sports Video Association has named him SEC Video Coordinator of the Year three times (1997, 1998 and 2003).

Harrington and his wife, the former Tammy Mulling of Alva, Fla., have two children, Connor and Abigail.

Joe and Tammy Harrington with Abigail and Connor.

Jim Bob COOTER
Graduate Assistant

Former Tennessee reserve quarterback Jim Bob Cooter enters his second season as a graduate assistant member of the coaching staff. The Fayetteville product concentrates on the offensive side of the ball and was a key part of the offseason transition to new coordinator Dave Clawson.

Cooter assisted the coaching staff in many methods during his on-field days. In addition to his overall knowledge of the offensive system, he was entrusted with the task of signaling in plays from the sideline during the 2005 season.

Cooter was in elite company during his playing days, earning Academic All-SEC honors four times after winning the High School Heisman Award at Lincoln County High School for combined athletics and academic success. He appeared in six career games for the Vols, including three in 2006.

Raasaan HARALSON
Graduate Assistant

Raasaan Haralson began his Tennessee graduate assistant career just before the start of the 2007 season. He spent two years as a UT assistant strength and conditioning coach before claiming the position with defensive coordinator John Chavis.

Haralson came to Knoxville after four seasons as an assistant coach at Istrouma High School in his home town of Baton Rouge, La. A former defensive back at Southern University under head coach Pete Richardson, Haralson helped spark the Jaguars to a pair of 11-1 seasons that each ended in Heritage Bowl victories. One highlight was being named Southwestern Athletic Conference Defensive Player of the Week after intercepting three passes during a 1995 game against Texas Southern.

Haralson, 35, is married to the former Cortni Hall, also of Baton Rouge, and the couple has a 5-month-old daughter named Emery.

Chris CUTCLIFFE

Head Manager
Mathematics
Oxford, Miss.

CHRISTOPHER EDWARD CUTCLIFFE

TENNESSEE TRIVIA – Son of current Duke head coach David Cutcliffe, who served two different stints as Tennessee's offensive coordinator and was head coach at Ole Miss from 1999-2004.

Chris Cutcliffe takes the reins this year as head manager on Roger Frazier's equipment team.

A senior mathematics major, Cutcliffe enters his fourth year on staff and spends game days in the press box charting offensive plays. He also now oversees the student manager program and works summer camps.

Cutcliffe spent his high school years in Oxford, Miss., and had multi-sport success. He played second base for a state baseball title winner and quarterbacked the football squad into the state championship game.

VOLUNTEER SQUAD

Phillip FULMER
Head Football Coach

"One of the rewarding parts of my job is to have the opportunity to coach our non-scholarship athletes. It is really fun to see these young men, who often work themselves into a key part of our team, come in with great enthusiasm and passion for Tennessee football.

"Many times it is only a little maturity, added strength level and extra coaching that blossoms them into contributors to our program. Some develop into scholarship athletes and continue as pro football players, while others may have limited playing time in striving toward their degree. Each reflects the attitude and desire that make college football special.

"I certainly am glad to have these young men as a part of our team."

Vols Play by the Rules

Compliance with NCAA rules is one of the highest priorities for the University of Tennessee and our athletics department. As a member of the NCAA, the University of Tennessee is responsible for the actions of its boosters and fans. Even the best intentions may violate NCAA rules. We need your help in observing all SEC and NCAA regulations. Boosters and fans must be careful of their interaction with prospective and current student-athletes. Therefore, we encourage our boosters and fans to "Ask Before You Act" by contacting the Compliance Office staff: Associate Athletics Director for Compliance Brad Bertani (865-974-3871) or Compliance Officer Kevin Avery (865-974-3308).

Representatives of Athletics Interest, "Boosters"

There are many ways an individual can be classified as a Representative of Tennessee's Athletics Interests. You are a "representative of The University of Tennessee's athletics interests," if you have: been involved in a booster club; made financial contributions to the athletics program or booster organizations; provided benefits to an enrolled student-athlete; assisted in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes; or been involved in the promotion of UT athletics. Please note that once you have been identified as a representative of UT athletics interests, you retain that identity indefinitely.

Recruiting, Extra Benefits and Inducements

Only coaches and athletics department staff members can be involved in the recruiting process. All "athletics representatives" who are not employees of UT are prohibited from contacting a prospect by telephone, letter or in-person, on- or off-campus, for the purpose of encouraging participation in athletics at UT. It is not permissible for prospects, student-athletes or their relatives and friends to receive any extra benefits or special arrangements from a booster. Extra benefits include, but are not limited to: cash or loans in any amount; co-signing or arranging a loan; providing gifts of any kind (e.g., clothing, airline tickets or holiday cards); providing special discounts for goods and services; use of an automobile.

2007 Game Reviews 124

The 2007 Vols won their last four SEC games to advance to the program's fifth conference championship game.

The Vols' defense held Georgia to 243 yards of offense and just 69 rushing yards in Tennessee's 35-14 rout of the Bulldogs.

Freshman placekicker Daniel Lincoln made game-winning FGs vs. South Carolina and Vanderbilt and also connected on three second-half kicks at Mississippi State to help the Vols to victory.

The Vols rode the momentum of rowdy Neyland Stadium crowds to a perfect 7-0 record at home in 2007.

Tennessee clinched the SEC East crown with a dramatic four-overtime win at Kentucky. Antonio Reynolds tackled the Wildcats' Andre Woodson on Kentucky's two-point try in the fourth OT to seal the game.

The Tennessee defense sacked Wisconsin's Tyler Donovan three times and held the Badgers to just three points in the second half en route to a 21-17 Outback Bowl victory.

VOLS SET RECORD SACK PACE IN 2007

Tennessee led all of major college football in 2007 by allowing only four quarterback sacks. Rutgers with 10 was the next closest school (see chart at right).

The Vols' combined 534 pass attempts meant opponents sacked UT quarterbacks just once every 133.5 attempts. Starting quarterback Erik Ainge was sacked just three times in 519 pass attempts, setting the division record for a minimum of 300 attempts.

In addition, Tennessee's offense produced a 3,000-yard passer, 1,000-yard rusher and 1,000-yard receiver en route to a 10-4 finish and an appearance in the SEC Championship Game.

Six key members of the 2007 offensive line return for 2008: Ramon Foster, Jacques McClendon, Josh McNeil, Anthony Parker, Vladimir Richard and Chris Scott.

GAME 1 - CALIFORNIA

Sept. 1, 2007

CALIFORNIA 45
TENNESSEE 31

BERKELEY, Calif. - Erik Ainge connected on 32-of-47 passing attempts for 271 yards and three touchdowns, but it wasn't enough to outscore a balanced California attack as the Golden Bears dropped Tennessee 45-31 in front of 72,516 fans at Memorial Stadium.

Justin Forsett scampered 13 yards to paydirt with 9:10 remaining to give Cal its two-touchdown margin of victory and halt any chance of a Tennessee comeback in the final quarter.

Forsett produced 156 yards and a touchdown on the ground and quarterback Nate Longshore completed 19-of-28 passes for 241 yards and two touchdowns while scoring another one himself. Cal's offense netted 471 yards of total offense.

Arian Foster led the Vols' rushing attack, gaining 89 yards on 13 carries and adding a 68-yard kickoff return to set up a Montario Hardesty touchdown.

Tennessee's Lucas Taylor paced all receivers with six catches for 103 yards. Chris Brown caught seven passes for 54 yards and two scores.

GAME 2 - SOUTHERN MISS

Sept. 8, 2007

TENNESSEE 39
SOUTHERN MISS 19

KNOXVILLE - Erik Ainge produced 276 yards and two touchdowns through the air and Arian Foster added 125 yards and two touchdowns on the ground as Tennessee rallied to beat Southern Miss 39-19 at Neyland Stadium.

Ainge threw for 205 yards and both of his touchdowns in a first half that featured a combined 493 yards of total offense from the two teams. Foster took over in the second half, rushing for 94 yards and two scores to distance the Vols from the Golden Eagles.

Tennessee had two wide receivers over the 100-yard mark in a single contest for the first time since the 1997 SEC Championship Game. Austin Rogers caught seven passes 112 yards and a touchdown, while Lucas Taylor caught five passes for 118 yards. Josh Briscoe snagged the other touchdown pass while finishing with three receptions for 11 yards.

Taylor and Rogers set career highs for receiving yards in a game. Both players had more receiving yards through the first two games of 2007 than they did in all of 2006.

GAME 3 - FLORIDA

Sept. 15, 2007

FLORIDA 59
TENNESSEE 20

GAINESVILLE, Fla. - Florida's Tim Tebow tallied 366 yards of offense and four touchdowns to pace Florida in a 59-20 win over Tennessee. The Vols were held to just 37 yards on the ground and committed three turnovers to aid Florida in achieving the most lopsided win in the series since 1990.

The biggest play of the game came late in the third quarter when Arian Foster fumbled deep in Tennessee territory and Dustin Doe scooped up the loose ball and returned it 18 yards for a Florida touchdown and a 35-20 lead.

The Tennessee defense had shifted the momentum in the Vols favor on the previous two Florida possessions. Eric Berry intercepted Tebow's pass and returned it 96 yards for a touchdown to pull Tennessee within eight, and then the Vol defense forced Florida to punt.

Foster's fumble gave the momentum right back to the Gators, and they took full advantage, scoring 24 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to send the Vols back to Knoxville with their first 1-2 start since 1994.

GAME 4 - ARKANSAS STATE

Sept. 22, 2007

TENNESSEE 48
ARKANSAS STATE 27

KNOXVILLE - Erik Ainge threw for a career-high 334 yards and four touchdowns and LaMarcus Coker rushed for 101 yards and a score as Tennessee ran away from Arkansas State by a 48-27 count at Neyland Stadium.

Ainge connected on 27-of-39 attempts, including two touchdown passes of 24 yards or more. Coker turned in his best performance since the 2006 Vanderbilt game, while Arian Foster spelled him with 57 yards and a score as well.

Tennessee's defense also showed improvement, forcing three turnovers and limiting the Indians to just 199 passing yards.

Ainge and Lucas Taylor connected on a 24-yard score with 13:37 remaining to give the Vols a 45-27 lead and put the game out of reach.

Daniel Lincoln connected on his eighth straight field goal five minutes later to create the final margin. It marked the best start to a field-goal kicking career in school history, breaking the previous high of six consecutive by Ricky Townsend (1972) and Carlos Reveiz (1985).

GAME 5 - GEORGIA

Oct. 6, 2007

TENNESSEE 35
GEORGIA 14

KNOXVILLE - Tennessee set out to run the football, and then did exactly that.

Arian Foster posted another career day against Georgia, running for 98 yards and three touchdowns to lead a Vols rushing attack that totaled 190 yards on the ground and five touchdowns before the day was done.

Tennessee's opening drive set the tone for the game. After the much-maligned defense forced a Georgia three-and-out, the Vols offense marched 81 yards in 12 plays--nine of which were rushes --and scored on a nine-yard run from Foster.

The Vols built a 28-0 halftime lead, and then relied on a stingy defense and a methodical run game to keep Georgia at a comfortable distance.The success of the Tennessee run game reduced Ainge to a role player. The senior quarterback played mistake-free football, completing 17-of-22 passes for 165 yards.

Georgia managed just 69 yards on the ground and 243 yards of total offense in the game. Rico McCoy and Jerod Mayo led the Vols defensive effort with 11 tackles apiece.

TENNESSEE 33
MISSISSIPPI STATE 21

STARKVILLE, Miss. - Tennessee received another outstanding effort from Arian Foster, and then turned to the defense and kicker Daniel Lincoln in the fourth quarter to put away Mississippi State, 33-21.

Foster ran for 139 yards and a touchdown to lead a Vols ground game that gained 211 yards. Erik Ainge was effective again as well, completing 22-of-36 passes for 259 yards and two touchdowns, including a season-long 51-yard strike to Lucas Taylor in the second quarter.

Taylor caught a career-high 11 passes for a career-high 186 yards to lead the UT receiving corps.

The Tennessee defense forced a punt and three turnovers on downs in State's final four possessions. Daniel Lincoln converted field goals of 29, 26, and 43 yards on three of Tennessee's last four possessions to provide the comfortable margin.

Rico McCoy led the Tennessee defense with nine tackles, including one for a loss.

TENNESSEE 17

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. - Alabama's John Parker Wilson threw for 363 yards and three touchdowns and the Tide defense held Tennessee scoreless in the second half en route to a 41-17 thumping of the Vols.

Trailing by only seven at the half, Tennessee managed just 145 yards of offense after the intermission while Alabama kept the ball for almost 20 minutes and produced three field goals and a touchdown.

Erik Ainge finished 22-of-35 for 242 yards with a TD and an interception. Arian Foster led the Vols on the ground with 91 yards and a score on 13 carries. Tight end Chris Brown was the Vols' leading receiver with five grabs for 28 yards. Two of Ainge's favorite targets, wideouts Lucas Taylor and Josh Briscoe, were both limited due to injuries.

The game turned on Tennessee's first possession of the second half. After the defense forced a Tide a three-and-out, Tennessee marched into Alabama territory before Ainge was intercepted. The Tide took the turnover and converted it into three points and a 27-17 lead after chewing 4:47 off the clock.

GAME 8 - SOUTH CAROLINA

Oct. 27, 2007

TENNESSEE 27
SOUTH CAROLINA 24 OT

KNOXVILLE - Daniel Lincoln saved Tennessee's season with a career-long 48-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter, and then split the uprights from 27 yards in overtime to give the Vols a 27-24 win over South Carolina at Neyland Stadium.

Lincoln rebounded from a 51-yard miss late in the second quarter to make the clutch kicks when they counted.

He got a shot at the game-tying kick in regulation because of a 37-yard kickoff return from LaMarcus Coker. South Carolina's Ryan Succop hit a 49-yard field goal with 1:24 remaining in the game to give the Gamecocks their first lead, but Coker took the ensuing kickoff from one sideline to the other to give Tennessee good field position at its own 47.

A fortunate fumble recovery by Jacques McClendon of a Foster bobble kept the tying drive alive and set the stage for Lincoln's 48-yarder.

In overtime, Tennessee drove to the 10 before stalling and calling on Lincoln again. Succop missed his 40-yard attempt on South Carolina's possession to give the Vols their second overtime win over the Gamecocks in Neyland Stadium in four years.

GAME 9 - LOUISIANA-LAFAYETTE

Nov. 3, 2007

TENNESSEE 59
LA.-LAFAYETTE 7

KNOXVILLE - Tennessee scored on nine of 10 possessions in a 59-7 rout of Louisiana-Lafayette at Neyland Stadium.

The Tennessee rushing game was dominant in both halves. Arian Foster rushed for 100 yards and two touchdowns before giving way to Lennon Creer, who carried seven times for 109 yards and a score. The two were Tennessee's first duo to rush for more than 100 yards in the same game since 2004. Foster's last carry pushed him past 2,000 career yards.

The Vols broke the game open late in the first half on a big defensive play. Antonio Reynolds grabbed a tipped pass from the air and rumbled 70 yards to paydirt to give Tennessee a 24-0 lead at the intermission.

Tennessee's special teams got in on the scoring act midway through the third quarter when Nevin Mckenzie blocked a punt into the arms of Antonio Wardlow, who returned it 20 yards for a touchdown.

John Chavis' defense allowed the Ragin' Cajuns points on only one of 11 possessions, and four different Vols scored their first career TDs in the game.

GAME 10 - ARKANSAS

Nov. 10, 2007

TENNESSEE 34
ARKANSAS 13

KNOXVILLE - Tennessee broke from the gate for another big opening 30 minutes and added the clinching plays after halftime to beat Arkansas, 34-13.

The Volunteers defense held Arkansas to just one first down and 49 yards of total offense in the first half while the offense built a 20-3 lead. UT then forced two interceptions and another turnover on downs in the second half.

Tennessee did not allow Arkansas into the end zone until the 8:27 mark of the fourth quarter, when Michael Smith rushed in from nine yards out. The Razorbacks only other scores came on field goals of 31 and 42 yards from Alex Tejada.

Linebacker Jerod Mayo led the defense with nine tackles and also returned an interception 34 yards for a touchdown in the waning minutes of the game.

UT quarterback Erik Ainge hit Josh Briscoe for a 14-yard score with just 10 seconds left in the half to send the Vols to the locker room with a 17-point edge. Foster then stormed 59 yards for a touchdown on Tennessee's opening possession of the second half. It was Foster's longest run of the season.

GAME 11 - VANDERBILT

Nov. 17, 2007

TENNESSEE 25
VANDERBILT 24

KNOXVILLE - Daniel Lincoln kicked a 33-yard field goal with 3:04 remaining to lift Tennessee past Vanderbilt 25-24, completing UT's largest home fourth quarter comeback.

Vanderbilt's Bryan Hahnfeldt had a chance to give the Commodores the win in the final seconds, but his 49-yard field goal grazed the left upright and ricocheted wide.

Erik Ainge overcame a sloppy first three quarters to pilot three scoring drives in the final 17 minutes, finishing 29-of-43 for 245 yards and three touchdowns. Arian Foster put forth another solid ground effort, carrying 19 times for 106 yards.

The Vols trailed 24-9 in the fourth when Ainge completed TD passes to Josh Briscoe and Austin Rogers to pull UT within two.

After Tennessee's third defensive three-and-out of the quarter, Dennis Rogan returned the ensuing punt 45 yards to the Vanderbilt 33. Ainge and Foster drove the Vols to the 16 before giving way to Lincoln for the go-ahead kick.

D.J. Moore returned Tennessee's ensuing kickoff to the Tennessee 42, and Vanderbilt drove 11 yards on six plays before Hahnfeldt missed what would have been the game-winner.

GAME 12 - KENTUCKY

Nov. 24, 2007

TENNESSEE 52
KENTUCKY 50 4OT

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Tennessee capped its run to the SEC Eastern Division title in spectacular fashion, winning at rival Kentucky 52-50 in four overtimes to earn a trip to the conference championship game in Atlanta.

After Kentucky rallied from a 17-point deficit to tie the game as time expired, the teams matched efforts for three overtimes before Tennessee stopped a two-point try from the Wildcats to win the thriller in the fourth extra frame.

Antonio Reynolds made the game-winning play, dropping scrambling Kentucky quarterback Andre Woodson from behind on the two-point attempt.

The Vols twice stared defeat in the face, first surviving after surrendering only a field goal when the Wildcats stood first-and-goal from the UT 5 at the end of regulation and then living to play another frame when Dan Williams blocked what would have been a game-winning field goal for Kentucky in the second OT.

GAME 13 - LSU (SEC Championship)

Dec. 1, 2007

LSU 21
TENNESSEE 14

ATLANTA - LSU turned a pair of fourth-quarter interceptions into the go-ahead touchdown and a clinching defensive stop to slide past Tennessee 21-14 in the SEC Championship Game at the Georgia Dome.

LSU's Jonathan Zenon intercepted UT quarterback Erik Ainge deep in Tennessee territory and returned the pick for the game-winning score. Then on the Vols' last-chance drive into the LSU red zone, Ainge was again picked, this time by Darry Beckwith.

UT's defense lived up to its bend-but-don't-break mantra, allowing LSU 212 rushing yards and 464 total yards, but surrendering only 13 points. Tennessee's offensive frustration was the story for a change. Eight of the Vols' 12 drives lasted six plays or fewer, and Tennessee lost the time of possession battle by more than 12 minutes.

Erik Ainge finished the game 20-of-40 for 249 yards, two touchdowns and two picks. Tennessee mustered only 94 yards on the ground, getting 55 from Arian Foster and 39 from Gerald Jones. Josh Briscoe led the receiving effort with eight grabs for 79 yards and a touchdown.

GAME 14 - WISCONSIN (Outback Bowl)

TENNESSEE 21
WISCONSIN 17

TAMPA, Fla. - Antonio Wardlow's interception just shy of his own end zone with a half-minute remaining preserved Tennessee's 21-17 win over Wisconson at the Outback Bowl.

Without any timeouts left, the Badgers had driven from their own 12-yard line to Tennessee's 36 when Tyler Donovan's pass toward paydirt was picked off by Wardlow. UT's defense limited Wisconsin to just three points in the second half despite being on the field for the majority of clock time.

Vols quarterback Erik Ainge was named Outback Bowl MVP after accounting for 365 yards on 25-of-43 passing. He connected in the second quarter on touchdown tosses of 29 yards to Josh Briscoe and 31 yards to Brad Cottam, the latter of whom scored his first career six-pointer in his last collegiate game.

Linebacker Jerod Mayo highlighted UT's defense with 13 tackles to reach an SEC-best 140 for the season. Tennessee turned in three sacks against Donovan, while Ainge was spotless.

For the season, the Vols allowed only four sacks -- three against Ainge -- in a combined 534 passing attempts to lead all of major college football.

All-America Notes

- Tennessee has had a total of 71 individual All-America selections, who have been recognized a total of 86 times.
- Tennessee has had one three-time All-America selection, guard Bob Suffridge, chosen in 1938, 1939 and 1940. Thirteen (13) other Vols have earned All-America honors twice during their careers.
- Thirty-two (32) Vols have earned consensus NCAA All-America honors.
- The most honorees in one year were four, in 1939 and 1966.
- The most consecutive years with All-America selections were 11 from 1963-73, a total of 25 selections in all.
- Tennessee has had one father-son combination All-America selection in Steve DeLong (1963-64) and Keith DeLong (1988). Tennessee has had one brother combination, Johnny Majors (1956) and Bobby Majors (1971).
- Two of Tennessee's All-Americas later became head coaches at their alma mater: Bowden Wyatt (1938) in 1955 and Johnny Majors (1956) in 1977.
- Three of Tennessee's All-America selections made All-America in other sports. All-America punter Ron Widby (1966) was a basketball All-America in 1967. Former Olympian and wide receiver Willie Gault (1982) was a track and field All-America in 1981-83. Richmond Flowers (1967) earned track and field All-America honors in 1968-69.
- All-America selections Bill Johnson (1957), Bob Johnson (1967) and Peyton Manning (1997) also earned Academic All-America honors the same season.

Peyton Manning Scholarship

The University of Tennessee honors former Vol quarterback Peyton Manning each year by presenting a scholarship to a first-year student who will participate in UT's Honors program.

The scholarship is funded from gifts to the University garnered from Manning's aca-demic awards, the UT Athletic Department's corporate matching grants program and other private gifts.

Manning's four-year career at UT (1994-97) produced a number of awards that generated $165,000 in scholarship funds. Among the awards were the Burger King-Vincent dePaul Draddy National Scholar Athlete of the Year, the Davey O'Brien Foundation Award and the American Honda Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

The Manning Scholarship covers the costs of tuition, room and board for a male or female student. The award is granted to a first-year student on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and community service.

Elizabeth Joyce Tiller of Tuscaloosa, Ala. is the 11th recipient of the Peyton Manning Scholarship. She is joined by Jeff Gerkin (left), UT Director of Financial Aids, and award namesake Peyton Manning at the presentation made in June.

2007 SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL

For the third straight year, Tennessee led the way in the classroom among Southeastern Conference members with 27 football student-athletes earning positions on the Fall 2007 SEC Academic Honor Roll.

That increases to 124 the number of UT football student-athletes who have been selected for the conference academic honor over the last five years. Prior to this season, 25 Vols made the list in 2006, 30 were selected in 2005, 22 in 2004 and 20 in 2003.

"VOL SCHOLAR" INSIGNIA RECOGNIZES ACADEMIC DILIGENCE

The VOLScholar program, an initiative of UT's Thornton Athletics Student Life Center in cooperation with the men's and women's athletics departments, is a comprehensive academic and citizenship-building program that has gained enthusiastic support from UT's athletic teams. Student-athletes earn the right to wear the VOLScholar patch by achieving a 3.0 grade-point average in the previous fall and/or spring semester.

Chris Brown broke Jason Witten's school record for season receptions by a tight end with 41 in 2007.

Erik Ainge set school records for pass attempts (519) and pass completions (325) in a season as well as touchdown passes in a game (7 vs. Kentucky) in 2007.

Hall of fame coach Robert R. Neyland's .829 career winning percentage ranks 15th in NCAA history. His 173 wins are the most by any coach in Tennessee history.

General Robert Reese Neyland

Feb. 17, 1892-March 28, 1962

The history and tradition of Tennessee football begin under the tutelage of Gen. Robert Reese Neyland, a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. Neyland came to Tennessee as an ROTC instructor and backfield coach in 1925 and was named head football coach in 1926. From that date, Tennessee was in the college football business to stay.

Neyland's 1939 Vol team was the last to shut out each of its regular season opponents. Over the course of his career, 112 of his 216 opponents failed to score against his Tennessee teams. Tennessee still holds an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless 71 consecutive quarters.

Neyland's teams won Southern Conference championships in 1927 and 1932, piling up undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along the way, and SEC championships in 1938, 1939, 1940, 1946 and 1951. In addition, Neyland-coached teams won four national championships. The Vols were consensus national champions in 1951, won the Dunkel, Litkenhous, Board, Houlgate and Poling national championships in 1938, the Dunkel and Williamson crowns in 1940 and the DeVold and Dunkel crowns in 1950.

It was Gene McEver who kicked off the Neyland era with his 90-yard return of the opening kickoff in the 1928 Alabama game, a game the underdog Vols won 15-13. Each of Neyland's succeeding eras would be highlighted by similar big plays: Johnny Butler's 56-yard run against Alabama in 1939 and Hank Lauricella's 75-yard run against Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl. Neyland's 21-year record at Tennessee was 173 wins, 31 losses and 12 ties.

Neyland, who came to Tennessee as an Army captain and left as a brigadier general, brought one of the most efficient single-wing offenses in the country to go with an unyielding defense. He was assigned to the head coaching position by Dean Nathan Dougherty with a single injunction: "Do something about the series with Vanderbilt."

After Neyland's death in 1962, the University established the Robert R. Neyland Scholarship, academic scholarships awarded to non-athletes, many of whom are National Merit Scholars. The endowment for these scholarships now exceeds $1 million and 184 students have been the beneficiary of the awards.

The thoroughfare behind the stadium's south end, once called the river road, is now named Neyland Drive. More recently, the Vol football complex on campus was named for Neyland and Knoxville businessman B. Ray Thompson.

1894 and 1895 No Official Team

In October 1894, the Athletic Association resolved to drop varsity football and look forward to baseball in the spring. After the humiliating 1893 season (two wins and four imposing defeats), only two athletes willing to admit they had played on the 1893 team returned to campus in 1894. To complicate matters further, the practice field, located just west of the main entrance to the Hill, was being graded and improved.

Soon after this decision, W.B. Stokely, a UT senior who transferred from Wake Forest, persuaded a group of students to form a team. Stokely, who was elected captain, gave encouragement and direction to the other players. Even though the institution chose not to be represented officially on the gridiron, Stokely and his unofficial team kept football interest alive during this period when almost certainly it otherwise would have been allowed to lapse completely.

These unofficial games, referred to as "The Lost Years" are not included in NCAA statistics or in official University of Tennessee won-lost records.

1917 AND 1918
WORLD WAR I
NO OFFICIAL TEAMS

The University of Tennessee Athletic Council, chaired by Professor Nathan W. Dougherty, officially suspended varsity football during the World War I years of 1917 and 1918 because the majority of the players were called into military service. In addition, Coach John R. Bender was enlisted as an instructor at Camp John Sevier in Greenville, S.C.

During this period without varsity football, two unofficial teams were formed from Army recruits and students. One team represented a training unit called the Fighting Mechanics and another the Student Army Training Corps (SATC).

R.R. NEYLAND (1946-52)

General Neyland's retirement from military service enabled him to devote full time to coaching and building one of the most powerful programs in the nation. He produced the national championship team in 1951 and took the Vols to three straight major bowl appearances. Poor health in 1952 forced his retirement to athletic director, a position he held until his death in 1962. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1956. His record for this period was 54-17-4. Coaching record: 173-31-12.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The first three games of 1992 were credited to the coaching record of Phillip Fulmer, the other eight regular-season games to the record of Johnny Majors. Fulmer was officially named head coach Nov. 29, and the 1993 Hall of Fame Bowl game was added to his record.

PHILLIP FULMER (1992-Present)

After serving as an assistant coach at UT for 14 seasons, the former Vol offensive line standout was named the 20th head coach at the close of the 1992 season.

Coaching record: 147-45.

NCAA Overtime Rules

The NCAA tiebreaker system established in 1996 will be used when a game is tied after four periods. NCAA football-playing rules apply. The officials will escort the captains (Rule 3-1-1) to the center of the field for the coin toss. The referee shall toss a coin at midfield in the presence of no more than four field captains from each team and another game official, first designating the field captain of the visiting team to call the coin toss. The winner of the toss shall choose one of the following options:

1. Offense or defense, with the offense at the opponent's 25-yard line to start the first series.
2. Which end of the field shall be used for both series of that overtime period.

Note: The winner of the toss may not defer his choice.

The loser of the toss shall exercise the remaining option for the first extra period and shall have the first choice of the two options for subsequent even-numbered extra periods. An extra period shall consist of two series with each team putting the ball in play by a snap at the designated 25-yard line. Each team retains the ball during a series until it scores or fails to make a first down.

The team scoring the greater number of points during the regulation and extra periods shall be declared the winner. There shall be an equal number of series in each extra period, except if one team scores during a period other than on the try. Beginning with the third extra period, teams scoring a touchdown must attempt a two-point try.

Tennessee Bowl History Paved With Opportunities, Big Plays, National Championship Scenarios

When bowl matchmakers begin the mental calculations leading toward their annual holiday events, Tennessee is one of a select group of universities that always receives thoughtful consideration.

Under Phillip Fulmer, the Vols consistently provide an exciting bowl-game spectacle with high-powered offense and grudging defense. But that's just one of many reasons Tennessee is a bowl promoter's dream.

UT's other irresistible lure is its legions of fans, a collection of devoted supporters who bathe a neutral bowl site in a sea of orange worthy of a game at Neyland Stadium. The Vol faithful are good travelers who arrive at the game site early and make themselves seen and heard until they leave town.

Tennessee has appeared in 47 bowl games, of which a couple stand out as particularly memorable because of the bearing they had on producing two of the school's national championships.

In the early years of wire service polls, the national champion was selected at the end of the regular season. Bowl results were not part of the evaluation process. But Tennessee's Cotton Bowl victory over Texas after the 1950 season was invaluable in paving the way for the crown UT claimed in 1951.

The 20-14 upset of the Longhorns in Dallas on New Year's Day made the Vols the team to beat going into the next season. When the curtain fell on the 1951 campaign, Tennessee had ridden the momentum of its Cotton Bowl triumph to the national title as awarded by both wire service polls.

Forty-seven years later, a bowl game was crucial to another UT national championship claim. In the first officially sanctioned Bowl Championship Series title game, the Vols met Florida State in a matchup of the two top-ranked teams at the close of the season.

Led by the passing of quarterback Tee Martin, the Vols capped an undefeated season by turning back the Seminoles, 23-16, before a capacity crowd at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz. National championship pandemonium reigned throughout the night at any place Vol fans were gathered.

The significance of bowl games is in the eye of the individual, however, so you can pick among two dozen UT victories for your favorites. Certainly some of the other leaders would include: 1939 Orange Bowl (Vols 17, Oklahoma 0), 1965 Bluebonnet Bowl (Vols 27, Tulsa 6), 1971 Liberty Bowl (Vols 14, Arkansas 13), 1986 Sugar Bowl (Vols 35, Miami 7), 1990 Cotton Bowl (Vols 31, Arkansas 27), 1996 Citrus Bowl (Vols 20, Ohio State 14), 2002 Citrus Bowl (Vols 45, Michigan 17) and 2005 Cotton Bowl (Vols 38, Texas A&M 7).

Phillip Fulmer led Tennessee to its sixth national championship in the 1999 Fiesta Bowl.

Retired Numbers

The 2005 ceremonies to retire the jerseys of Doug Atkins (91), Peyton Manning (16) and Reggie White (92) brought the list of retired jersey numbers at Tennessee to seven. This includes the four former Vol players who died in World War II and had their jerseys retired in 1946.

In 2005, Tennessee instituted criteria to retire additional numbers. Those criteria include, but are not limited to: candidates must be recognized as good citizens and have a minimum of five years between the candidate's UT football career and consideration of this honor. A candidate must have achieved three of the following five collegiate honors: induction into the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, Southeastern Conference (SEC) Player of the Year, Consensus All-America, Heisman Trophy winner, and have won one of the following general athletic/academic or non-position specific awards: Sullivan Award, SEC Athlete of the Year (all sports) or Draddy Award.

Doug Atkins (91) is considered by many to be the greatest defensive end in football history. After originally signing with UT on a basketball scholarship, Atkins went on to gridiron All-America status in 1952, was the only player to be unanimously named to the All-SEC Quarter Century Team (1950-74) and was selected SEC Player of the Quarter Century. Atkins retired with the most NFL games played (205) by a defensive lineman. The Vols went 29-3-1 with Adkins on the field and won the 1951 national championship.

Peyton Manning (16) is the most decorated athlete in UT history. He left Tennessee as the SEC's all-time leading passer with 11,201 yards, setting 42 passing records during his Vols career that included two NCAA, seven SEC and 33 UT marks. Off the field, Manning won the Draddy Award as National Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 1997 and graduated in three years with a degree in speech communications. He graduated with the highest grade-point average (3.61) in his field. During his pro career, Manning has earned Pro Bowl honors six times in his eight seasons played and was named NFL MVP for the 2004 and 2005 seasons. He threw an NFL-record 49 touchdown passes in 2004 and already has 244 for his career. Manning's career total of 33,189 passing yards stands 20th on the NFL all-time list.

Reggie White (92), who died Dec. 26, 2004, at the age of 43, collected a school-record 32 sacks in his four years with the Vols to establish himself as the most prolific pass rusher in Tennessee history. Fifteen of those sacks came in his senior year of 1983, a campaign current Vols head coach Phillip Fulmer called the "most individually dominant season I've ever seen." Known as the "Minister of Defense," White went on to a 17-year pro football career, retiring as the NFL's all-time sack leader with 198. He was elected to the College Football Hall of Fame in 2002. He graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1990.

Ceremonies were held during the 2006 UT-Air Force game to officially memorialize the four players killed in World War II. Those individuals, listed below, had their jerseys retired in 1946.

Clyde (Ig) Fuson (62) (March 11, 1923 — Dec. 4, 1944), a native of Middlesboro, Ky., and fullback on the 1942 team, shared playing time with Nowling. Ig had a younger brother, Herschel (Ug) Fuson, who was a freshman on the 1942 team and transferred to West Point, from where he graduated.

Rudy Klarer (49) (March 9, 1923 — Jan. 6, 1945) was a reserve guard in 1941 and starter in 1942, from Louisville, Ky.

Bill Nowling (32) (Aug. 8, 1920 — Aug. 9, 1944), a fullback 1940-42, from St. Petersburg, Fla., was a three-year starter under Gen. Robert R. Neyland and John Barnhill.

Willis Tucker (61) (May 10, 1918 — Nov. 28, 1944), a graduate of Knoxville High School, earned a Vol football letter in 1940 and was a sprint star on the track and field team.

TENNESSEE TRADITIONS

About the "T" – The famed letter "T" debuted on Tennessee's helmets in 1964 as Doug Dickey assumed the coaching reins. Johnny Majors had the "T" slightly redesigned when he was named head coach in 1977. Dickey also brought another Tennessee tradition to life when he started the Vols running through a giant "T" formed by the band.

Pride of the Southland Band – The UT "Pride of the Southland Band" was organized immediately after the Civil War. Since then, enrollment in the band program has grown to more than 400 students. Director of Bands, Dr. Gary Sousa, heads up a program that has maintained a long-standing reputation as one of the nation's finest musical organizations. The band first marched in a 6-0 victory over Sewanee in 1902. In 1969 "The Pride" formed and opened the "T" against Army in another Vol victory.

School Colors – The colors Orange and White were selected by Charles Moore, a member of the first football team in 1891, and later were approved by a vote of the student body. The colors were those of the common American daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill. Tennessee players did not appear in the now-famous Orange jerseys until the season opening game in 1922.

Checkerboard End Zones – The unique design accompanied coach Doug Dickey's arrival in 1964 when the Vols played Boston College. The colorful and popular end zones were a part of Tennessee football until 1968 when the natural sod was dug out and artificial turf was put in its place. The tradition was reinstated with the new artificial turf in 1989 and has continued with the transformation to natural grass in 1994. The checkerboard end zones also now appear on the basketball court at Thompson-Boling Arena and for volleyball matches at Stokely Center.

Vol Navy – Former Vol broadcaster George Mooney found a quicker way to get to Neyland Stadium in 1962 other than fighting the Knoxville traffic. Mooney navigated his little runabout down the Tennessee River to the stadium and sparked what would later become the "Vol Navy." Tennessee and Washington are the only institutions with football stadiums adjacent to bodies of water.

Rocky Top – Felice and Boudleaux Bryant's "Rocky Top," — written in 10 minutes at the Gatlinburg Inn in 1967 — has captured the fancy of Vol fans everywhere and is a much-requested and much-played song at UT sporting events. First performed as part of a halftime country music show at the 1972 Tennessee-Alabama game, the song attracted so much attention and is so beloved that long-time UT band director W.J. Julian said that not playing it would cause a mutiny among Vol fans.

SEC Championship

Dec. 6 at Atlanta, Ga., 4 p.m. ET

General Information

The Southeastern Conference's Eastern and Western Division winners will meet in Atlanta's Georgia Dome (capacity 71,500) to battle for the league championship and the right to represent the conference in the Bowl Championship Series. The 17th-annual title game is set for Dec. 6 and will be nationally televised by CBS Sports (4 p.m. Eastern).

The game is a result of conference expansion, which saw Arkansas and South Carolina become the first members added in SEC history.

The participants of the game are determined each year during the eight-game regular-season conference schedule as the teams with the best overall SEC winning percentage in each division.

*The winner of the SEC Championship game will play in the Sugar Bowl unless that team is ranked No. 1 or 2 in the BCS Standings in which case that team will play in the BCS National Championship game.

The BCS is managed by the commissioner's of the 11 NCAA Division I-A conferences, the director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame and the representatives of the bowl organizations. The following conferences are represented: Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Conference USA, Mid-American, Mountain West, Pacific 10, Southeastern, Sun Belt and Western Athletic.

NEYLAND STADIUM/SHIELDS-WATKINS FIELD: The present day Neyland Stadium, Shields-Watkins Field had its beginning in 1919. Col. W.S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921 it was called Shields-Watkins field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. It was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee's proud football tradition. General Robert R. Neyland served as head coach from 1926 to 1952, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadium's capacity, and is the one most responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteers fans have come to expect over the years.

VOLS IN THE POLLS

Since the inception of wire service polls, Tennessee has frequently placed among the nation's leaders in the national rankings. The Associated Press poll, which began in 1936, the United Press International poll, running from 1950 until 1991, and the CNN-USA Today poll lasting from 1982 until 1997, when it became the ESPN/USA Today poll, all reflect the lofty standings of the Vols in the eyes of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters. Tennessee won the 1951 and 1998 national championships in all polls and finished No. 2 in 1938, 1939, 1956, 1967 and 1995. The Vols have been awarded other national championships as determined by different points and ratings systems in effect at the time of the seasons. UT earned national titles in 1938 and 1940 according to both the Dunkel and Litkenhous Systems. The Vols were named national champs in 1950 by Dunkel and in 1967 by Litkenhous. The 1951 title was also honored by both the Litkenhous and Williamson Systems. The 1998 title was honored by all polls.

TENNESSEE AS NO. 1

Tennessee ended the 1951 and 1998 seasons ranked No. 1 in the major wire service polls. The 1998 Vols were crowned national champion by the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today-Coaches poll, while the 1951 Vols were honored by both the AP and UPI polls. In addition, the Vols have held down the nation's top spot on 15 different occasions in the history of the weekly Associated Press poll and have a 15-0 mark in those games. UT's next game results after an AP No. 1 ranking are listed below.

TENNESSEE VS. NO. 1

In its 100 plus-year history, Tennessee has been involved in eight contests in which the Vols' opponent was ranked No. 1 in the country.

UT has a 2-6 all-time record when playing the nation's top-ranked team.

The most recent game between Tennessee and the No. 1 rated team was against Miami (Fla.) Nov. 9, 2002, in Knoxville.

The Vols' two victories against a No. 1 team have come against Southeastern Conference foes.

Tennessee, ranked No. 13, edged Louisiana State 14-13 Nov. 7, 1959, in Knoxville, to knock the Tigers out of the top spot.

On Sept. 28, 1985, the Vols, 0-0-1 and unranked at the time, soundly defeated top-rated Auburn 38-20 in Knoxville. The 1985 Vols went on to win the SEC Championship and finish No. 4 nationally in all polls.

LAST TIME IN THE POLLS

Throughout its history, the University of Tennessee football program has been a regular member of the Associated Press and, more recently, the ESPN/USA Today Coaches polls.

Below is a listing of the last time the Vols were ranked in a particular position in each poll.

Tennessee's last No. 1 ranking came at the end of the 1998 football season after Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Jan. 4, 1999.

The win garnered Tennessee the undisputed national championship thanks in part to the advent of the Bowl Championship Series, which matched the top two teams in the land in a fight for the national title.

Dr. John D. Petersen
University President

In President John Petersen's fifth year at the University of Tennessee, UT is continuing to enjoy positive momentum in enrollment, private support, economic development and federal research funding.

In April, Petersen presided over the official launch of the $1 billion Campaign for Tennessee, the most ambitious fundraising effort in UT history. At not quite the midpoint of the seven-year campaign, the launch came with news that fundraising of more than $700 million already had been achieved.

UT also has benefited from federal grants related to the nation's priorities in homeland security, alternative fuel sources and emerging science and technologies. Those included winning in 2007 the single-largest research grant ever in UT history - $65 million from the National Science Foundation to build one of the world's fastest supercomputers.

Petersen is vice-chairman of UT-Battelle, the partnership that manages Oak Ridge National Laboratory for the U.S. Department of Energy. He is closely engaged in maximizing the intellectual and economic benefits of the university's partnership with the nation's largest science and energy lab.

Petersen became the 23rd president of UT on July 1, 2004. He was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at Connecticut for four years before coming to Tennessee.

As president, he is the chief executive officer of the statewide UT system, which includes campuses at Knoxville, Chattanooga, and Martin; the Health Science Center in Memphis, and two statewide organizations, the Institute of Agriculture and the Institute for Public Service. He travels frequently to university campuses and offices throughout Tennessee, as well as speaking at numerous meetings of UT alumni and civic groups. He also is leading the planning for a major university-wide fundraising campaign.

Petersen's earlier career included experience at several public universities. Prior to his appointment at the University of Connecticut, he was dean of the Collage of Science and professor of chemistry at Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich., from 1994 to 2000. Before that he was a faculty member, head of chemistry and associate dean for research in the College of Sciences at Clemson University (1980-93) and assistant professor of chemistry at Kansas State University (1975-80).

Petersen received a doctorate in inorganic chemistry from the University of California at Santa Barbara and a bachelor's degree in chemistry from California State. He and his wife, Carol, are the parents of two grown children, Melissa and Andrew.

Carol Petersen is a former teacher. Melissa is a graduate of UT's College of Law. Andrew received a Ph.D. at Connecticut in May and is on the faculty of the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill.

Mike Hamilton
Director of Athletics

Under Mike Hamilton's vision and leadership, the University of Tennessee continues to field one of this nation's most respected athletics programs.

Since 2003, when Hamilton took the role as athletics director, he has overseen competitiveness of Tennessee teams, graduation of student-athletes, compliance with NCAA and SEC rules, financial management and the athletics department's service to the university and community.

In 2007-08, 85 current and former Vols and Lady Vols graduated from the University of Tennessee, continuing Tennessee's athletics commitment to excellence in the classroom. UTAD currently is working with more than 20 former student-athletes who left UT to pursue professional athletics careers and have returned to finish their degrees through the Thornton Center's Renewing Academic Commitment (RAC) Program.

A major focus for Hamilton is ensuring UT has the best facilities to allow its student-athletes and coaches to compete for championships. In the fall of 2004, Hamilton unveiled a master plan to prepare Neyland Stadium for the next 75 years. One key goal was to find a way to fund the renovations without financially impacting the general fan. The renovations are being completed in five phases during the off-seasons to alleviate inconveniences on fans. Phase I, which included expansion of the lower north concourse with new restrooms and concessions, infrastructure improvements and the addition of the East Club, was completed for the 2006 season. Phase II, which includes concourse renovations and creation of a mezzanine on the first level west side, renovations to the locker room, addition of a field level Lettermen's Room and new media center as well as brick work around the field level, were completed for the 2008 football season. Hamilton also has overseen spectacular improvements to Thompson-Boling Arena, creation of the Pratt Pavilion basketball practice facility, Allan Jones Intercollegiate Aquatic Center, Regal Soccer Stadium and Lee Softball Stadium, as well as upgrades to Lindsey Nelson Stadium.

Hamilton initiated these major facility campaigns while still reducing expenses to ensure that UT continues to be one of a handful of athletics departments in the country receiving no funds from state subsidies or taxes. The only non-athletics department generated revenue is a $1 million contribution to women's athletics from student fees. During Hamilton's tenure as athletics director, the men's department has cut its operating budget from $24.06 million in 2003 to $22.88 million in 2007, while giving to athletics has increased by 50 percent – from $20.6 million in fiscal year 2003 to almost $40 million in fiscal year 2008.

While Hamilton is focused on ensuring the financial viability of athletics, he also is committed to giving back to the University. Last year, the athletics department contributed more than $25 million back to the university in some fashion, including $1.375 million in academic scholarships for the general student body, $390,000 for the Pride of the Southland Marching Band, $1.125 million for annual debt service on five university parking garages and $11.99 million in athletics benefits to university employees and students through free or reduced rate tickets to sporting events, licensing revenue and tickets for university alumni association fundraising purposes.

Hamilton previously served as Senior Associate Athletics Director for External Operations, earning that promotion in September 2002, and has been on the UT staff since 1992.

The 45-year-old Hamilton, who grew up in Brevard, N.C., served as assistant director of the Deacon Club at Wake Forest University before joining the Vols staff in 1992. He earlier had served as a graduate assistant in fundraising at his alma mater, Clemson University, where he earned both a bachelor's of science in accounting and a master's in business administration.

Hamilton was honored in the spring of 1998 when the National Association of Athletic Development Directors named him National Fundraiser of the Year. He was named in 2006 to the NCAA Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet.

Hamilton is chairman-elect of the Knox Area Chamber Partnership, serves on the board of directors of the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame and is a principal of the Mike/Beth Hamilton Celebrity Golf Classic for Adoption.

Hamilton and his wife, the former Elizabeth Merrill, also from Brevard, are parents of a daughter, Madison, and a son, Matthew.

The Vol Network's weekly prime time call-in show "Vol Calls" featuring Coach Phillip Fulmer airs statewide every Monday night from 8-9 p.m. ET / 7-8 p.m. CT. The show originates live from the Texas Roadhouse in west Knoxville.

BIG ORANGE COUNTDOWN

The Vol Network's Thursday night football preview show "Big Orange Countdown" returns for its second season in 2008. The show originates live from the Wild Wings Cafe in West Knoxville and is heard in most of the major markets in the state and airs from 8-9 p.m. ET / 7-8 p.m. CT.

2008 Vol Network Broadcast Team

In the fall of 1949, Tennessee football games were first broadcast on what is known today as the Vol Radio Network. Legendary UT coach General Robert R. Neyland gave the Network its name and hall of fame broadcaster Lindsey Nelson served as the first play-by-play announcer. Over the years, the Network has grown into one of the nation's largest and most respected collegiate radio and TV networks.

Entering his tenth season, Bob Kesling is the play-by-play voice of Tennessee football on radio and the host of "Vol Calls" and "The Phillip Fulmer TV Show." He is a four-time recipient of the "Sportscaster of the Year" award for the state of Tennessee.

Former All-SEC defensive back Tim Priest serves as the Network's color analyst. An Academic All-America who starred from 1968-70, Priest is still UT's all-time pass interceptions leader with 18.

Former Vol offensive lineman Mike Stowell (1989-92) returns for his second season as sideline reporter. Stowell was an All-SEC selection for the Vols in 1992.

Studio host John Wilkerson along with Brent Hubbs, Chip Kain and Will Overstreet contribute to coverage that begins 90-minutes prior to every game with the "Kickoff Call-In Show."
